Japan's Imperial Army-Navy Clique Ordered Abolished

MacArthur Clamps Censorship on Newspapers And Radio Stations—Will Spread Control

TOKIO, Sept. 10 (AP).—General MacArthur dealt Japanese militarism its death blow today with an order summarily abolishing Imperial General Headquarters.

His order for the joint army-navy clique to dissolve by Thursday (Wednesday, P.D.T.) went out simultaneously with a censorship decree that waved the threat of suspension over any Japanese newspaper or radio station caught stirring up unrest or publishing false reports.

Allied headquarters also announced that the forces of occupation would spread their control next month to the naval bases of the inland sea and the great city of Osaka.

While the Japanese announced that one-fourth of their 2,744,000-man home army had been demobilized in the so-far peaceful occupation of the home islands, Gen. MacArthur acted to quiet unrest in nearby Korea.

At the same time, the Japanese at home were made to feel the steel behind Gen. MacArthur's "gloved-hand" policy of occupation.

In one of two far-reaching orders, Gen. MacArthur told the Imperial general headquarters to disband by Thursday.

The headquarters came into being in 1940 to integrate the tactics of the army and navy, and only a few months later the orders went out that put in motion plans for the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor opening the Pacific war.

This body blow at Japanese militarism was part of Gen MacArthur's announced first objective—to stamp out the aggressiveness that had kept Asia in turmoil and trembling since the island empire grew up to be a world power.

The second order clamping on the censorship of Japanese press and radio was accompanied by Gen. MacArthur's assurances that there "should be an absolute minimum of restrictions upon freedom of speech."

Banned immediately were Japanese short-wave broadcasts abroad and any further publication of Allied troop movements.

THE TIMES, London

News and Comment on International Events selected from The Times daily and published in The Daily Colonist by special arrangement with The Vancouver Daily Province

(Copyright, 1945, by Southam Co.)

LONDON, Sept. 10.—In an exclusive interview with The Times Paris correspondent, Gen. De Gaulle outlined outstanding problems to be settled by Anglo-French co-operation.

First is the Rhineland question. De Gaulle wants the whole left or Western bank of the Rhine from Cologne to the Swiss border declared under French control with international regime in the coal-producing Ruhr Valley.

Second is the Near and Middle Eastern question which De Gaulle says must be settled "not on the basis of accomplished facts, but on what should be." De Gaulle recognizes that the British and French have a common interest and declares that neither has an interest in eliminating the other, since the resulting vacuum would be awkward for the one remaining.

Editorially, The Times says of De Gaulle's statement that it is evidently entitled to mature and searching consideration. It will focus thought where it should be fixed, upon search for a solution to the German problem, which will itself be part of constructive European settlement, the editorial says.

But, the editorial asks, do the French people as a whole accept De Gaulle's fundamental assumption that France is ready to take full pioneering part in reorganizing Europe with all the material responsibilities which it entails? Do they also share wide territorial ambitions which De Gaulle stated? It is still uncertain how far De Gaulle speaks in the name of the most vital and most progressive element in New France.

Meanwhile the demand for a clear-cut statement of British policy in Western Europe is made more than ever urgent.

Bracken's Speech Is Applauded

First Appearance as Leader of Opposition

OTTAWA, Sept. 10 (CP).—John Bracken today made his first full-length speech in his new role as leader of the Progressive Conservative Opposition in the Commons, a speech punctuated with criticism of the Government and promises to support constructive measures for the creation of enduring peacetime prosperity in Canada.

"Under our system of government it is for the Administration in power to bring forward its policies," he said. "It remains for us as members to support what is wise and to criticize what is imprudent in the proposals advanced.

"As Leader of the Opposition, I accept on behalf of the party I lead the responsibilities that fall to our lot. The Government may, therefore, count upon us for both constructive co-operation and constructive criticism. It is in that spirit that this party approaches the tasks of the challenging days ahead."

Mr. Bracken, who heads a larger group of members of his party than any Progressive Conservative leader for the last ten years, was roundly applauded by veteran and newly-elected members of his group as he ticked off points in a speech which was shorter than usually made by party leaders in the Throne Speech debate.

LARGE ATTENDANCE OF MEMBERS

His voice carried well in the Commons and almost a full attendance of members listened to him.

Specifically, he had these things to say:

1. There must be a discontinuance of "dictatorial methods," of "secrecy in matters of public concern," of "government by order in council rather than by Parliament."

2. The Government's housing program was a "flop."

3. Economic controls necessitated by shortages must be removed as shortages disappear.

4. If meat rationing was necessary the Government was to blame for it because it allowed hog production to decline.

5. There would be "widespread resentment and bitterness" if the budget did not bring "substantial relief

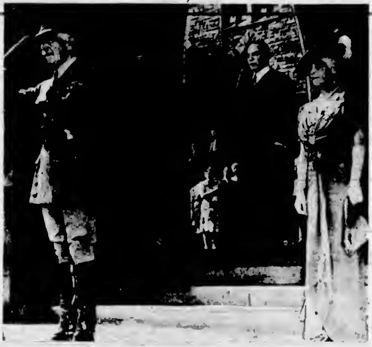
Kinney Hearing May Be Adjourned Today

Possibility that there will be an adjournment in the preliminary hearing today of Charles Kinney, 17, charged with the "V-J" night murder of Phyllis Stroud, was indicated last night by G. H. Sedger, who said, "As far as I know, I am still representing Kinney."

"It will be mutual," said Mr. Sedger when asked whether the adjournment would be at the request of himself or City Prosecutor C. L. Harrison.

Canada's Peacetime Parliament Opens in Ottawa



The First Session of Canada's Peacetime Parliament Got Under Way in Ottawa With Some of the Pageantry of Peacetime. There Was a Guard of Honor for the First Time in Five Years. For the Governor-General, the Earl of Athlone, and Princess Alice, It Was Their Last Canadian Parliament.

Opposition Chiefs Charge Government Failed to Plan Properly for Peace Era

OTTAWA, Sept. 10 (CP).—Motions of non-confidence in the Government were moved in the Commons today by Progressive Conservative and CCF party leaders as the heads of all major political groups were heard in debate on the address in reply to the Throne Speech.

John Bracken, Progressive Conservative leader, concluded his first full-dress speech in the Commons with a motion which criticized the Government for lack of planning in demobilization, reconversion and housing.

M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, accused the Government in a motion with failing to propose the fundamental social and economic changes which alone could meet the pressing needs of the peacetime era. The motion urged immediate steps to assure full employment, adequate purchasing power, and a large scale house building program.

Mr. Bracken's amendment was criticized by Prime Minister Mackenzie King who followed him. Solon Low, Social Credit leader, spoke after Mr. Coldwell.

At the night sitting the debate for the most part was taken over by private members. State Secretary Paul Martin was the only Cabinet minister to participate. Other speakers were W. A. McMaster (PC, Toronto High Park), E. O. Bertrand (L, Prescott) and Maj. John Probe (CCF, Regina). The debate was adjourned by Maurice Lalonde (L, Labelle).

Mr. Bracken's amendment said the Government had failed to demobilize the forces on a fair basis, prevent serious disadvantage to overseas service personnel, provide a speedy effective plan of reconversion from war to peace and to take adequate action to meet the housing crisis.

Mr. King, making one of his shortest full-dress speeches in his parliamentary career, retorted that to "come forward with that amendment within a few hours after the cessation of war does not commend itself to my judgment as being in the nature of disinterested or constructive criticism."

"But it is something in the nature of impetuous party criticism, and I would suggest that it was hardly a good way for my honorable friend to begin with his first address to the House of Commons."

Mr. Coldwell's amendment charged the Government with failing to propose the fundamental social and economic changes which alone could meet the pressing needs of the peacetime era. He urged that immediate steps be taken to assure full employment, adequate purchasing power and a large scale building program that would provide needed homes.

Mr. Low, like Mr. Bracken, made his maiden speech. He advocated old-age pensions of $50 a month beginning at the age of 60 years, spoke of the needs of his own constituency and said that while Canada was busy fighting centralization abroad that evil had crept in at home.

Selassie Wants Italian Colony

LONDON, Sept. 10 (CP).—The Swiss radio said tonight that Emperor Haile Selassie has asked the United States, Great Britain, France and Russia to give Ethiopia the entire Northeast Africa Italian colony of Eritrea.

The broadcast said the Emperor had reminded diplomatic representatives of the four countries that Ethiopia had been assured it would regain all its historic frontiers.

Cairo Paper Critical

CAIRO, Egypt, Sept. 10 (AP).—Al Wafd Al Misri, leading Wafdist (Nationalist) evening newspaper here, charged today that the "British Government intends to use the Pan-Arab League as an instrument for opposing American and Russian economic influence in the Middle East."

Mineral Production in B.C. Down Due to Labor Shortage

British Columbia's mineral production in 1944 was valued at $54,923,802, almost $11,000,000 less than that of 1943 and the lowest for any year since 1936, according to the annual report of the Department of Mines, released yesterday by Hon. E. C. Carson.

Metal production was down almost $11,500,000, or 21 per cent. Coal production was 112,000 tons more, an increase of $475,000 in value. Production of barite, sulphur, lime and limestone increased.

The report states "the decrease in the value of mineral production reflects the general shortage of labor." Production of placer gold, lode gold, silver, copper, lead and zinc decreased 18 to 23 per cent in quantity and 10 to 38 per cent in value. Mercury value was less than half the 1943 quantity, and little more than a quarter of 1943 value.

Coal production increased in the Northern and East Kootenay districts, but dropped on Vancouver Island and in Nicola-Princeton district.

Average number of men employed in mining, 12,314, was the lowest for any year since 1933. Average number engaged in lode mining decreased from 2,394 in 1943 to 1,890 in 1944.

Dividends paid in 1944 amounted to $11,367,732, of which $412,595 was distribution of capital by a company not now operating. In 1943 dividends were $11,860,159, of which $399,101 was capital distribution. In 1939, when production amounted to $65,681,000, compared with last year's $54,923,802, dividends amounted to $11,865,000.

Looking to 1945, the report states "Availability of labor will have a very important bearing on production. The output of lode gold will probably be increased moderately, and production of silver, lead and zinc may also increase, provided that the supply of labor is maintained.

"However, if the total number employed by the industry does not increase, improvement in one branch or department can only be at the expense of another.

"Coal production is not expected to change greatly since even if more labor becomes available it will take time to put the mines in position to increase production materially."

Tojo's Arrest Is Ordered by Gen. MacArthur

TOKIO, Sept. 11 (Tuesday) (AP).—General MacArthur today directed that Hideki Tojo, former Japanese Premier who ordered the attack on Pearl Harbor, be taken into American military custody "at once."

A two-line announcement from general headquarters did not report why the once militant war leader's arrest was ordered. However, Tojo unofficially is listed as the top ranking Japanese war criminal.

MacArthur's orders went to both American and Japanese forces.

Tojo lives on the outskirts of Tokio.

Historic Session Will Open Today

LONDON, Sept. 10 (CP).—The Foreign Ministers of the world's greatest powers found new demands clamoring for their consideration tonight as they prepared to open a historic session tomorrow aimed at designing a lasting peace.

Last to arrive for the conference was the United States Secretary of State, James Byrnes, who prepared to meet Foreign Secretary Bevin of Britain, Foreign Commissar Molotov of Russia, Georges Bidault, French Foreign Minister, Wang Shih-Chieh, Chinese Foreign Minister.

At Potsdam the "Big Three" agreed to put the framing of a peace with Italy at the top of the agenda for the foreign ministers, but since then new matters have been broached as needing consideration.

Toronto Heat Wave

TORONTO, Sept. 10 (CP).—A five-day heat wave during which the temperature in Toronto climbed well over the 80-degree mark appeared tonight to have run its course. Today's maximum was 81 degrees, but weathermen forecast cooler weather and showers for tomorrow.

Reconversion of Shipping Starts

LONDON, Sept. 10 (CP).—British shipyards have started to convert 10,000,000 tons of shipping from war to peacetime commercial standards and the job is expected to keep most shipyards busy until 1950.

The requisitioning of Allied shipping in the International Shipping Pool will cease in the near future unless the existing agreements are extended, and owners then will be able to operate their vessels where and when they choose.

Passenger liners used as troop transports will require several months' conversion work before they can be put back on normal passenger runs and many cargo ships will require similar work.

Assembly Meeting In January Asked

LONDON, Sept. 10 (CP).—A proposal that the general assembly of the United Nations meet about mid-January at a place chosen by the Preparatory Commission was made today by the Canadian delegate, Escott Reid, at an open meeting of the executive committee of the United Nations Commission.

Mr. Reid suggested the assembly meeting be both a constituent one to set up the United Nations organization and a full-dress conference.

Debate on the question will continue tomorrow when the executive committee, on which 14 countries are represented, will proceed with its work to launch the world security organization provided under the United Nations charter drawn up at the San Francisco Conference this Summer.

SINGAPORE, Sept. 10 (Reuters).—Three hundred Japanese officers at Singapore committed suicide with hand grenades when informed of the Japanese surrender, it was reported today.

TORONTO, Sept. 10 (CP).—Men called for army service under the National Resources Mobilization Act should be kept in uniform until all active servicemen have been discharged and placed in industry, the Canadian Active Service Force Association said in a statement issued today.

Governor-General to Return in November

OTTAWA, Sept. 10 (CP).—The Governor-General and Princess Alice left Ottawa this afternoon for Quebec, where they will board the Empress of Scotland for a two-months' holiday in England, Government House said today.

They will return to Canada about November 20 and will remain here until next February or March, when the Earl of Athlone's successor, Field Marshal Sir Harold Alexander, is expected to take up his duties.

Koreans Protest Orders

Jap Rulers Stay in Office Temporarily

SEOUL, Korea, Sept. 10 (AP).—Demonstrations broke out today in this Korean capital in protest to United States Army orders leaving temporarily in office Japanese overlords who have ruled the little Empire for 35 years.

Gen. MacArthur, in Tokio, told the Koreans in a proclamation that their rights would be protected, and that American troops were in Southern Korea only "to enforce the instrument of surrender."

Lt.-Gen. John R. Hodge, commander of the 24th Army Corps assigned to Korea, made it clear through his chief of staff that the Japanese would be allowed to act only on his orders and were denied any independence of action.

Gen. MacArthur warned that any act to disturb Korea's peace, or any hostilities against the occupation forces, would bring down stern penalties, including the death sentence.

Koreans, who declared the retention of the Japanese was "a slap in the face," demonstrated in the streets and plastered walls with posters of protest.

Only yesterday thousands of Koreans massed at the palace grounds of the Governor-General, Noboyuki Abe, and roared their approval as the hated Red Ball Ensign of Japan was hauled down.

Then they roared just as approvingly as the United States flag was run up, and crowded, cheering, to the curbs as Americans in jeeps and afoot filed through the streets.

The elderly Abe appeared on the brink of collapse as he entered the Throne Room of the palace to sign the articles surrendering Southern Korea. Northern Korea is under Russian occupation.

Japanese rule since 1910 came formally to an end as Gen. Hodge and Vice Admiral Thomas C. Kinkaid, commander of the United States 7th Fleet, added their signatures to the document.

But the hopes of the Koreans that independence was immediately at hand were quickly dashed when Gen. Hodge announced that Abe and his staff would continue in office.

Gen. Hodge pledged himself to consult with native leaders on his future course but declared immediate independence could not be granted because of the peril of political chaos among Korean factions.

Rounding Up Nazis

BERLIN, Sept. 10 (AP).—Neutral countries harboring "obnoxious" Germans will be asked by the Allied Control Council to return them to Germany, the council decided today at its fifth meeting attended by Gen. Eisenhower, Field Marshal Montgomery, Lt.-Gen. Koenig, Marshal Zhukov and their aides.

The Governments of Afghanistan, Eire, Portugal, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Tangier and Vatican City will be asked to return the "obnoxious" Germans and their families.

Report Weston Interests to Buy Sidney Roofing Plant

Interest of R. W. Mayhew, M.P., in the Sidney Roofing & Paper Co., Ltd., and its subsidiaries, may be sold to W. Garfield Weston, Vancouver financier, it was learned yesterday.

Besides the local paper mill, the deal is believed to include the company's Vancouver factory on False Creek and the National Paper Box Co. also at Vancouver.

Started soon after the Great War at Sidney, by Mr. Mayhew the company underwent rapid expansion and later moved to its present location on the west side of Victoria Harbor. The Victoria plant supplies paper board for the National Box Co., and in addition sells paper on the open market. It is also a producer of rubber roofing and certain other patented roofing.

The deal would mark Mr. Weston's entry into the paper industry in competition with subsidiaries of Pacific Mills and the planned expansions of the Powell River Co. Mr. Weston already controls the E. B. Eddy and the Booth Mills around Ottawa.

Under Weston control, it is expected that the National Paper Box Co. would supply boxes for confectionery and biscuit concerns west of Winnipeg and also for a large proportion of the Western Grocers, Ltd., branches, in which Mr. Weston has sizable interests.

Expansion of plant and invasion of new markets is expected if the deal goes through, and it is understood that R. W. Mayhew and R. Logan Mayhew, his son, will continue active in the organization.

Questioned last night at Ottawa by a representative of The Daily Colonist on the reported sale, Mr. Mayhew said:

"I would be very proud to have Mr. Weston as a partner in the Sidney Roofing & Paper Co. If any deal is consummated Victorians will be the first to know of it. Any report that has been published is pure speculation."

Meat Retailers Here May Go on Protest Strike

Group Unanimously Approves Proposal to Stop Buying Meat If Rationing Continues

Meat retailers of Greater Victoria may soon stop selling meats in protest against resumption of rationing.

Last night nearly 60 local meat dealers, meeting in the Chamber of Commerce Auditorium, gave unanimous approval to a motion that the Dominion Government be notified that they would stop buying supplies from the packers for a limited period if the Government would not rescind the rationing order. Dispatch of the motion to Ottawa was postponed pending word on the decision of meat retailers in other British Columbia centers.

C. A. Conrad, acting chairman of the dealers' group and member of a seven-man committee named last night to form a permanent association, said if the intent of the motion were carried out, packers and consumers would be notified in advance that on a certain Monday, Victoria meat dealers would cease buying meat and dispose of their stocks on hand.

The decision was made after proposals were heard that dealers should close their shops immediately on selling their present stocks, or that they should send present stocks back to the packers.

All present agreed to postpone sending in to the ration board Form RB 217, which asks for figures on stocks of meat and numbers of coupons and tokens in hands of meat retailers, jobbers and packers at the end of this week. This action was taken on an amendment to a motion of P. W. Smoothy that the form be ignored.

Four large Victoria organizations that deal in meat will be asked today, the meeting decided, whether they are willing to co-operate in the proposed "strike."

During discussion of the main motion, J. C. Stuart and others spoke for wider organization of meat dealers in the province and in Canada before action was taken. One dealer questioned whether all Greater Victoria butchers would be depended on to stop meat sales.

Commenting on a statement of Donald Gordon, Wartime Prices and Trade Board chairman, that coupon rationing was the only equitable method of distributing butter, sugar or meat when supplies fell below consumer demand, Mr. Conrad said

To Humble Beaten Japs At Singapore

SINGAPORE, Sept. 10 (AP).—Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten was en route to this key base today to accept the surrender of Japan's southern armies in a ceremony designed to humble the conquered enemy and restore Britain's "face" throughout all Asia.

The Southeast Asia commander planned originally to receive the Samurai sword of Field Marshal Count Juichi Terauchi, supreme commander of the southern armies, and to re-enact—with roles reversed—the drama of Britain's Singapore surrender early in 1942.

This program would have included a parade of Japanese generals through the city, carrying white flags. It was ruled out today, however, by the highest level of authority in favor of a "more dignified ceremony," scheduled to take place Wednesday.

Singapore's polyglot population will be permitted—even encouraged—to see the first part of the ceremony, to be held in a hollow square formation on the Padang waterfront.

Immediately afterward, the single-sheet surrender instrument will be signed in the council room of the adjacent Municipal Building, before a selected audience.

Instead of Terauchi, conqueror of the Philippines and a former War Minister, the Japanese representative will be Lt.-Gen. Seishiro Itagaki, last-ditch commander of Singapore and one of Japan's leading militarists. Three other generals flew here from Bangkok today to join the surrender party.

No Pacific Star for Hongkong Prisoners

OTTAWA, Sept. 10 (CP).—Amplifying a Sunday statement that released Hongkong prisoners were not eligible for the Pacific Star, Defence Headquarters said today this ruling covered not only Canadians but servicemen from every Commonwealth and Empire country. Steps have been taken to have the matter reviewed.

MUST USE HOUSING

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 10 (CP).—All unoccupied housing accommodation whether owned by the Government or by private citizens must be put in use before Winter, Brig. Colin Campbell, newly-appointed director general of real estate for the Department of Reconstruction, said today. He is making a tour across Canada in an effort to make Government property, particularly military quarters, available more quickly for civilian use.

Repatriation Will Slacken After October

LONDON, Sept. 10 (CP).—September and October probably will be the biggest months yet for repatriation of Canadian troops from the United Kingdom to Canada but the outlook is not so bright for November and December.

Initial units of the 2nd Division now are scheduled to leave Britain during the latter part of October after the last men of the 1st Division have been cleared.

An Amsterdam dispatch from William Boss, CP war correspondent, said 2nd Division personnel are scheduled to begin moving from Holland to Britain September 12 and the movement is scheduled to be completed by September 25.

In addition to the movement to Canada of the 1st Division and some units of the 2nd Division, about 10,000 high-point men, the majority of whom will be from the Continent, but some also from United Kingdom installations, are scheduled to go home during the second half of October.

However, the pace is expected to be slower in succeeding months.

Car Salesman Fined $3,000

BRAMPTON, Sept. 10 (CP).—George Elmer Morrison, Brampton automobile salesman convicted of asking $1,178 in excess of the ceiling price for a new 1942 car, today was fined $3,000. The fine is believed to the heaviest imposed in Ontario courts for that type of case.

Legacies of Hate, Suspicion Must Be Overcome, Says King

OTTAWA, Sept. 10 (CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King rising in the Commons today to participate in the Throne Speech debate, said he wished his first words to be ones of welcome to Opposition Leader Bracken.

Mr King congratulated Wing Cmdr. W. N Benidickson (L Ken[illegible]) Langlois (L Gaspé) mover and seconder of the address in reply to Throne Speech.

The two were among the many war veterans now sitting in the House. About one-third of the members were veterans of the First Great War or the Second Great War. Theirs would be the task now of helping in the solution of postwar problems.

Mr King said he was in full agreement with much of which Mr Bracken had said in his address. He was particularly glad to hear Mr Bracken speak as he did of the necessity of a "will to peace" if plans of the United Nations for avoiding wars were to succeed.

The war had left legacies of hate, suspicion and ill-will which must be overcome. He was distressed to [illegible] at "intensifying controversy" in some fields just as the fighting had come to an end.

He said Mr Bracken had complained about the length of the Throne Speech and described part of it as "good literature and philosophy." That was the part which contained the Government's tribute to the people of Canada for their war contributions, to the armed services for their heroism, to the bereaved for their sacrifices, to the workers on the farms, the mines and the plans for their toil.

Parliament could do no less than express such a tribute in its first postwar assembly. The Speeches From the Throne formed part of the records of Parliament and future generations would turn back to them to learn what was said in this official document of Canada's role in the war.

SAYS NATION DOES NOT WANT SOCIALISM

Mr Bracken had devoted most of his speech to criticism of Government policies but much of it was what the Progressive Conservative party has been saying for months and during the election campaign.

He had said that the people did not want any unnecessary controls, that they did not want national Socialism.

The Progressive Conservative Party had said a great deal about what members of the forces thought of the Liberal Administration. The result of the election must have been surprising to members of the Progressive Conservative Party, which received the smallest number of service votes.

Mr King said it was a source of pride to him that the bulk of the forces had voted for the present Administration.

Much had been said about the Government's housing policy during the election. The people had voted and now only a few months later Mr Bracken called the housing program a "flop." Methods of demobilization, now condemned by Mr Bracken, had also been debated.

"The people of Canada did not take the narrow, partisan view that my honorable friend took today," said Mr. King. "They took an intelligent and wise view of how such situations should be tackled."

Hostilities had ended only a few weeks ago. Surrender was still taking place in certain parts of the world. The strain of six years of war needed to be appreciated. Mr Bracken had not given constructive suggestions, but something of the nature of impetuous party criticism that is hardly a good way with which to begin his duties in this House."

During the transition period no Government on earth could begin to satisfy everybody. The Government was ready to be shown where its policies were wrong but for this session, at least, he hoped members in expressing criticism would get down to facts.

Problems confronting Canada in the period of transition were great. There would be unrest. Problems would not be solved without difficulties.

Those who lend their voices to agitation which is unwarranted and unjustified may be contributing to the creation of situations they do not want.

Since V-E Day the Government had brought 120,300 men from overseas. He would have expected Mr Bracken to commend that and to offer his help in bringing more men back and in demobilizing them.

The Government had been returned in two general elections during one war. It was the only Administration which had ever been so returned. That was an answer to criticism.

Route Prisoners Through Coast

MONTREAL, Sept. 10 (CP)—Possibility was seen in shipping circles here today that British prisoners of war from the Far East would travel by rail across Canada to return home on the outward trips of troopships bringing Canadian servicemen home from Europe.

Such a system they added probably would mean a considerable cut in the present space being made available to civilians aboard troopships returning to Europe. At present an average of about 500 civilians are carried on each return voyage and waiting lists remain lengthy.

Shipping officials here said they believed the plan was to bring British prisoners of war into Vancouver, move them by train across Canada, and have them complete their homeward trips aboard ships leaving Quebec or Halifax—present arrival points for Canadian troop carriers.

Funeral at Hayward's

Funeral services will be held today at 2 p.m. in the chapel of Hayward's B.C. Funeral Co. for the late Richard Jackson, 72 native son of Victoria who passed away at Royal Jubilee Hospital on Saturday. Rev. T. Griffiths will officiate and interment will be in the family plot at Ross Bay Cemetery.

Mr Jackson retired 28 years ago as manager of the fire insurance department of the B.C. Land & Investment Agency Ltd. and made his home at Deep Cove. He was the son of Dr. and Mrs. William Jackson, who came to Victoria around Cape Horn in 1863. On November 18, 1898 he was married to Marie A. White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William White who were also members of pioneer families. Besides his widow he leaves a son Clifford I. Jackson, Vancouver and one grandson.

Dominion Bridge Lays Off Workers

VANCOUVER, Sept. 10 (CP)—A. S. Gentles manager of Dominion Bridge Co. here, said today that cancellation of some orders in the ordnance section will lead to the lay-off of "not more than 100" workers in the next few days.

The cancellations, made over the week-end, may be the last for some time at the plant. Much of the remaining work entails reconstruction of devastated countries under mutual aid.

Soviet War Losses In Jap Conflict

LONDON, Sept. 10 (CP)—The Soviet Union said tonight it lost 8,219 killed and 22,264 wounded in the short war with Japan, but inflicted 100,000 casualties on the enemy.

Casualties in the war with Germany have not yet been announced.

Beat Patients In Hospital

MANILA, Sept. 10 (CP)—Riflemen Don Dainard, of Campbellford, Ont., and Bob Durdle, of Bonavista, Nfld., are two of the men who were in Stanley Village Hospital in Hongkong on Christmas Day 1941, when wild-eyed, unshaven Japanese burst in, attacked the patients and some of the nurses.

Both men were with the Royal Rifles of Canada, part of the Canadian contingent which shared with British and Indian troops in the 18-day siege of Hongkong which ended in surrender that day.

They had been wounded shortly before and taken into the temporary hospital, set up in what was formerly St. Stephen's College on the south side of Hongkong Island. Durdle still bears two scars from a Japanese bullet which entered his body and emerged from the back of his left shoulder dangerously close to the spine. Dainard, who fell off a cliff during the fighting was in hospital with a broken ankle.

Japanese soldiers, their uniforms dirty and crumpled during the fighting, behaving hysterically, broke into the hospital about 6.30 a.m. Christmas Day. They searched all servicemen and took their wallets, watches, rings and cigarettes.

No regard was had for the condition of the patients as they separated officers from other ranks and isolated the nurses. Many patients were beaten with rifle butts and Japanese helmets.

Forty-two Japanese brandishing revolvers, told the patients they would shoot them or blow them up with grenades if the resistance on the island did not end.

Death Verdict For Quisling

OSLO, Sept. 10 (CP)—Vidkun Quisling was condemned to death today for treason.

A seven-man judge and jury panel convicted the former army major for his treachery in dealing with the Germans who established him as puppet premier during the long Nazi occupation.

Quisling was sentenced to die before a firing squad—ten soldiers firing ten bullets.

Quisling whose name became synonymous with treachery during the war did not move a muscle as the verdict was read depriving him of his life and all his wealth, estimated at more than 1,000,000 kroner ($227,000 at 1940 rates).

His beetled brows were drawn together and his jaws were clamped hard as the panel of three judges and four laymen read his doom. He was absolutely quiet.

He stood calmly and only a slight red hue appeared on his face, paled by several months' confinement since German occupants of Norway surrendered.

Canada's Meat To Aid Europe

OTTAWA, Sept. 10 (CP)—To emphasize the need for meat rationing the Prices Board today released the results of a survey of conditions in Europe which will share Canada's rations.

The survey made among the embassies and legations here described conditions in countries such as Greece and Yugoslavia, where there is no rationing because there is no meat, and in The Netherlands, where the ration is about a fifth of a pound per person per week. The picture, except in Greece is the same in all the liberated countries to which Canadian meat will be going.

"Any meat that Canada can spare from her table to share with the starving millions in Europe would help to repair the damaged bodies and restore the vitality necessary for the people to rebuild their countries," the release said.

Carried Rice in Big Boats To Help Starving Comrades

By WILLIAM STEWART
Canadian Press War Correspondent

MANILA, Sept. 10 (CP)—First Canadians to reach Manila from prisoner of war camps in Japan appear to be in the best of health. But it is no credit to the Japs.

The first groups of prisoners, released from Sumidagawa Camp, [illegible] day and related how they had been able, through theft and construction of illicit kitchen "stills" to provide themselves with more cooked food than was turned out by the authorized kitchens.

The men, who represented places in Canada all the way from the Pacific to the Atlantic coasts, were well tanned, appeared sturdy and showed that they had been better fed than other prisoners of the Japs—something that puzzled the Japs right up until the day of Allied liberation.

Then, the lads boasted to the Japs how for weeks they had been stealing food and cooking more rice than the Japs allowed for the whole camp.

At one time, since his capture at Hongkong, December 25, 1941, Signalman George Grant, of Vancouver, dropped in weight to 125 pounds, but last Spring prisoners were able to remedy the situation when they were moved to Sumidagawa and put to work unloading railway food cars. Some of the Canadians were able to obtain over-sized shoes and the wearers became food smugglers.

While companions kept watch, the fellows with the big boots packed in as much as a pint of rice or soya beans with which they sometimes were forced to limp around all day before getting an opportunity to empty their boots at night.

On one occasion, Grant was caught with stolen food in his possession and was slapped and punched and was made to stand at attention 24 hours. But the smuggling continued, with the Canadians ducking into toilets to munch raw rice and beans, which they stole in addition to their bootsful.

COOKING OF FOOD DIFFERENT MATTER

Cooking of the food required more ingenuity than theft of it. First, wires which had to remain hidden, were hooked up to the regular lighting system and eventually were carried down to improvised electric cookers.

The prisoners estimated that during the period of their imprisonment at Hongkong until January, 1943 and thereafter in Yokohama and Tokio camps, they received altogether no more than five pounds of meat. They received no Red Cross parcels after they left Hongkong, and some said they hadn't received any mail since 1941.

These men helped form the first group of prisoners to arrive here from Japan. They were removed on January 19, 1943, from Shamshuipo prison where other Canadians were released several days ago on the Chinese mainland across from Hongkong—and arrived at Nagasaki on January 15 along with 1,200 other Canadian and British prisoners.

On the way to Japan some of the prisoners were taken off the Japanese hospital ship at Kobe. The Canadians, who had been selected for draft to Japan by the expedient test of whether they could cross a road without limping made the trip in the hold under locked hatch.

On the ship were the wounded servicemen captured at Singapore. The Canadians said the trip wasn't too bad because they were fed and they had been able to bring along remnants of Red Cross parcels they had received before leaving Shamshuipo.

Their food consisted mainly of rice and seaweed, though they later learned that grasshoppers fried in soya oil tasted much better than it sounds.

NO FIRE IN CAMPS THE FIRST WINTER

At Tsurumi camp on the outskirts of Yokohama the Canadians worked around the shipyard, turning out hulls badly needed by the Japs. The weather was cold and there were no fires in the camps the first Winter. Most prisoners slept in all their clothes including greatcoats, and wrapped themselves in blankets.

They left camp for work at 7 o'clock in the morning and returned about 5.30 at night. Fifty minutes was allowed for lunch and except for that period they worked constantly under the eyes of foremen and guards armed with sticks who sought any slackers.

Many prisoners suffered from what they called "electric feet," a painful result of malnutrition which forced many of the men to sit all night with their feet in water.

The news reaching them was what was contained in English-language papers, obtained from bribed guards. At one time the prisoners did business with the Japs with salt, which the Japs were unable to steal for the moral reason that all salt belonged to the Emperor.

About June, 1943 prison rations were reduced in what the Canadians believed was an experiment to determine just how little food on which a man could survive. A staple in the restricted diet was a carrot-top or potato-top soup. Not a speck of food was wasted.

When the starvation conditions became so bad and 125 men were too weak to work and finally collapsed from hunger Capt. J. A. O. Reid of Winnipeg, a medical officer wept at his inability to do anything to help the stricken men.

One of the first things the prisoners noticed on arrival here was the healthy-looking Japanese working party which was treated leniently.

More than one Canadian has asked for a job as foreman of a Japanese working party assuring their officers they wouldn't shoot or ill treat the Japs. But they would make sure the workers put in a good day's work.

Other members included in the group arriving today included Ptes. Paul Luchka, Shortdale, Man.; John Stephens of Winnipeg, L. Cpl. Victor Carter, Winnipeg; Pte. Frank Brown, Winnipeg.

Labor Must Aim At World Peace

BLACKPOOL, Lancashire, Eng. Sept. 10 (CP)—Labor must use its full force for world peace, Ebby Edwards, president of the British Trades Union Congress, today told delegates representing 6,500,000 workers at the 77th annual T.U.C. meeting.

"We cannot allow old hatreds and suspicions to gain fresh reinforcements from the aftermath of war," said Mr. Edwards, secretary of the National Union of Mineworkers and president of the Congress since George Isaacs last elected chairman, entered Prime Minister Attlee's Labor Government as Minister of Labor.

"We must not allow peoples to be envenomed again by new nationalistic rivalries, which tear asunder by monstrous evil and unnecessary antagonisms that bond of solidarity of the peoples of the world," added Mr. Edwards once a fraternal delegate from the T.U.C. to the Canadian Trades and Labor Congress convention.

Delegates also heard Prof. Harold Laski, chairman of the Labor Party's national executive declare "the age of capitalism is drawing to a close."

Old Town Burned

CRANBROOK, Sept. 10 (CP)—Fire of unknown origin has destroyed the remnants of old town, a "ghost" town for many years situated about 15 miles from Cranbrook.

The town's history goes back so far that few people in this district remember much about it.

It was believed to have been a gold camp village in the 1860s and 1870s.

NAIROBI, Kenya (CP)—It is announced that the Education Department has opened a centre for the training of African women teachers at Kabete near here. A new departure in Government African education in the colony, it is hoped to increase the facilities and open two or three other centres.

Coldwell Asks Payment $25 Weekly to Displaced Workers

OTTAWA, Sept 10 (CP).—Payment of a minimum of $25 a week to displaced workers until they are reemployed and to discharged veterans until they are reinstated in civilian life was urged today by M J Coldwell, C.C.F. leader.

In a speech prepared for delivery during debate on the address in reply to the Throne speech, Mr Coldwell said Government plans for providing full employment and a high national income were inadequate.

Pending the adoption of comprehensive plans, he urged:

1. Layoff or severance pay to provide $25 per week for all displaced workers until they are reemployed
2. Discharged veterans to be paid their full pay and allowances until reinstatement in civilian life, with the same minimum of $25 a week.
3. To maintain the purchasing power of Canadian farmers, the floor prices for agriculture must be continued.
4. Legislation to protect workers' and farmers' equity in their homes and to prevent evictions and foreclosures.
5. Immediate action to raise wages in industries frozen at substandard levels.
6. An extensive public low-rental housing program which will provide both large-scale employment and urgently needed homes. The present policy of reliance on private enterprise will produce neither jobs nor homes in adequate numbers.
7. Other public projects such as the construction of schools, hospitals, roads, rural electrification and flke, and reconversion of Government-owned war plants under public ownership, to open up new opportunities of employment.

Like Opposition Leader Bracken who preceded him, Mr. Coldwell moved an amendment to the motion for adoption of the Throne speech. Mr. Coldwell's amendment read:

"We respectfully submit, however, that in the opinion of this House Your Excellency's advisers have failed to propose the fundamental social and economic changes which alone can meet the pressing needs of the [illegible] entered, and we urge that immediate steps be taken to assure full employment, adequate purchasing power, and a large-scale building program that will provide urgently needed homes for the Canadian people."

The C.C.F. party believed that the Government's promises of full employment and decent wages could not be realized without public enterprise and national planning.

Shipbuilders to Go Back to Jobs

NANAIMO, Sept 10 (CP) — Thirty-one shipwrights, laid off from the Newcastle Shipbuilding Company here when all naval marine construction was canceled, were being recalled to work today.

The yard received authority to complete work on the 126-foot minesweeper Willow Lake launched last July 26. Since that time the vessel has been tied up and inactive. It is estimated that work on the ship will keep the yard busy for another four months.

Begin Talks On Finances

WASHINGTON, Sept 10 (CP).—Terms under which the United States may advance further assistance toward the economic rehabilitation of Britain will be discussed at a conference now expected to open here Thursday between experts of the two countries.

Lord Keynes, British expert and financial adviser to the Government, has been here since Friday. He will carry on negotiations in co-operation with Viscount Halifax, British Ambassador, who arrived Sunday after a long visit home.

The two British representatives have scheduled a press conference Wednesday morning, at which it is expected Lord Keynes will say something about negotiations he conducted in Ottawa prior to coming here.

So far there have been no formal announcements on the Canadian negotiations, but it is believed here that arrangements were made for long-term, renewable loans at low interest rate to take the place of the mutual-aid assistance Canada gave Britain up to the termination of hostilities.

It is understood here the British Government, placed in a precarious position by the sudden cessation of lend-lease and financially bankrupt as a result of the war, will ask for an immediate emergency loan to finance withdrawals from the lend-lease pipeline.

Meat Strike

meat products, unlike sugar and butter, had to be sold quickly. He contended that a voluntary quota agreement between dealers and packers would be a more efficient way to reduce consumption.

He charged that the intention of meat rationing was to bring down producer prices. Mr. Conrad is a former local foods officer of the Wartime Prices and Trade Boards

A representative of Canada Packers Limited stated that he thought his company would stop handling meat if most dealers here ceased operations, but he pointed out that if a few stores wished to continue in business they could easily bring meat in.

Challenging a report of a Toronto poll that 73 per cent of persons questioned on meat rationing were in favor of it, one meat retailer declared that 100 per cent of his customers yesterday were against it. Another dealer estimated that 95 per cent of consumers were opposed to it.

Named as a committee to arrange formation of an association, for which the name Vancouver Island Meat Retailers' Association was proposed, were Messrs. Stuart, Conrad, Wheeley, Reginald Williams, John O'Connor, George Wright and J. A Bethell

Distribution of meat ration tokens valued at eight to a coupon, continued yesterday through the Victoria ration office and Island banks. Stores with more than 800 customers a week must get their tokens, issued at the rate of three to a customer, from the ration office. One city bank reported issuing more than 4,000 tokens yesterday to smaller stores and another had issued 10,000 to date

A B Food, ration officer here, pointed out that brown coupon M-1 became valid yesterday, and coupon M-2 would be valid on Thursday. Thereafter one would become valid each Thursday. Value of each ranges from one to three pounds of meat. Tokens make possible the purchase of small amounts of meat

Coupon quotas were received yesterday by restaurants, hotels and other quota users of meat. Quotas are based on the users' reports of meals served monthly.

Meat dealers questioned yesterday afternoon expressed the opinion that rationing would make it harder for them to get rid of cheaper forequarter cuts of meat. Victoria, they explained, was consistently a market for high quality meats. Persons with only a few coupons would now be even less likely to buy the cheaper meats, they stated.

The manager of one store said he was not opposed to rationing and "customers were taking it fine." Another said he had the quietest day of business in two or three years. A third reported business cut by one-third

RECONSIDERATION OF RATIONING RUMORED

OTTAWA, Sept. 10 (CP).—Meat rationing went into effect in Canada today amid reports from Washington that it was possible the United States ration might be lifted soon, and it was learned here that such a step would bring a reconsideration by the Cabinet of the Canadian ration.

It was pointed out, however, that Canada's position in the meat rationing picture is different from that of the United States. Canada and the United States both have commitments to supply the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, but in addition Canada has large meat commitments to Britain.

Donald Gordon, Prices Board chairman, indicated in a recent statement that because of this difference it was likely the Canadian rationing of meat would be continued despite what action was taken in the United States

BUTCHERS OF HALIFAX AREA MAKE PROTEST

HALIFAX, Sept. 10 (CP).—Retail meat dealers and butchers of the Halifax-Dartmouth area, at a mass meeting here tonight, agreed to lodge a "vigorous protest" with Prime Minister King and Federal officials about the resumption of meat rationing in Canada today

However, no action was taken toward halting the sale of meats in the area as a protest measure as had been speculated before the meeting.

The Halifax Chronicle, in today's issue said that the dealers might cease selling meats because of the complexities of rationing and the unavoidable wastage caused by trimming expensive cuts within a two-ounce limit.

Clyde Hopgood, chairman of tonight's meeting, said that a resolution would be forwarded to Ottawa officials tomorrow, terming rationing unnecessary. He said that no consideration was given the possibility of halting sales.

Mr Hopgood said that butchers and retail grocers in Halifax are not organized, but that tonight's meeting decided to take steps to form some sort of guild before October 1

Social Credit Leader Would Pay $50 Pension at Age 60

OTTAWA, Sept 10 (CP).—Old age pensions of $50 a month beginning at the age of 60 years were advocated in the Commons today by Solon E Low, leader of the Social Credit party making his maiden speech

He said the "absolute necessity" of a measure of this kind would become more apparent as the problem of unemployment developed to its "full intensity under the discredited system of finance which this Government persists in following"

He said it might sound like a big undertaking to pay a pension of at least $50 to every Canadian of 60 years and more

"But," he added, "in the light of the colossal 'gifts' which we made to our enemies during the war, and in the giving, made ourselves prosperous, the aggregate sum required to carry out the undertaking we recommend becomes quite commonplace."

At the outset of his remarks, Mr Low spoke of his own riding of Peace River in Northern Alberta. Its most urgent need was a rail outlet to the west, perhaps through Pine Pass to link up with Prince George, B C. Such a link would obviate the necessity of the long haul of 300 miles to Edmonton. Almost as urgent was a new and equitable schedule of freight rates

"For the proper development of this last great frontier where perhaps many thousands more people could settle in comfort and security the rail outlet to the western seaboard and the revised freight structure are absolutely necessary," he said

He spoke of victory over totalitarianism but said that while Canada had been busy fighting centralization of power abroad, this evil had crept in at home. The Liberal party was an element in this situation

"The Government," he added, "has been drifting into totalitarian centralization and we now even hear much about maintaining it by force"

"I find widespread amongst the people of Canada today, a feeling that centralization within our country as well as on a world scale, is inevitable. This inevitability psychology has resulted from the persistent and subtle propaganda of the enemies of true democracy over the years

"It planted its roots deep in the frustration of the hungry thirties, and it has fed on the bitterness engendered amongst Canadians by that sense of futility. It has made such great inroads amongst our people during the war years that I feel we face a dangerous situation as a result of it"

The Government had "blundered into the position actually of a tool in the hands of the enemies of democracy" by adopting a policy of centralization of power and by its actions the Government had helped to firmly establish the feeling of the inevitability of centralization.

Boeing Plant Not Declared Surplus

MONTREAL, Sept 10 (CP).—The Government-owned Boeing Aircraft plant at Sea Island, B.C., near Vancouver, has not been declared surplus assets and hence cannot be the present concern of War Assets Corporation, a W.A.C. spokesman said here tonight.

Asked for comment on a Vancouver dispatch which quoted corporation officials here as saying that if new contracts were not obtained the plant would revert to War Assets Corporation for disposal, he said the disposition of the plant was entirely in the hands of the Crown Assets Allocation Committee at Ottawa. No instructions had come through thus far concerning the Boeing factory.

Quadruplets Born, Three Surviving

DUNNVILLE, Ont, Sept 10 (CP).—One of the quadruplets born today to Mrs Hugh A Smith, of nearby Caistor, has died it was announced tonight. The surviving three—two boys and a girl—are given a "fairly good chance" of living

The baby girl who died was second heaviest of the four at three pounds ten ounces. Weights of the other three ranged from three pounds one ounce to three pounds 15 ounces.

It was announced arrangements have been made for a supply of mother's milk, described as necessary in the children's diet, to be sent from Buffalo, N.Y. Earlier hospital attaches in Toronto said milk can not "possibly be spared" from Toronto Hospital for Sick Children.

Machinist Injured

Alfred Greaves, 82, chargehand machinist, suffered head injuries when he slipped and struck his head on a radiator at Victoria Machinery Depot's Plant No 2 at 3.15 p.m. yesterday. He went to Royal Jubilee Hospital, where he was reported to be "resting comfortably"

Thomas A Greensmith, 1048 Lyall Street, sustained shock and slight abrasions when his car was struck and overturned by a car driven by Harry C Green, 1266 Montrose, at the corner of Langley and Broughton Streets at 5.50 p.m. yesterday

A kick, police said, thrust Earl Collender, R.R. 4 Donnallie Avenue, in the path of a car driven by Glendon P Merriman, 1466 Edgeware Road and resulted in slight head injuries. The victim was released after treatment at Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Singapore Japs Say Undefeated

SINGAPORE, Sept. 10 (CP).—A spokesman for the Southeast Asia command said tonight "nothing really is cured" by the surrender of Japanese forces in this area, because Japan's southern armies consider themselves still undefeated.

He said Japanese soldiers here had not had news from home except through Japanese propagandists, and added:

"The consequence is that the Japs in this area are still convinced they are a master race that had a stroke of bad luck and that they'll do better next time"

Expect Labor Surplus in Some Areas

OTTAWA, Sept 10 (CP).—Any man "in his right mind" would expect surplus labor to develop in some areas during reconversion from war to peace, State Secretary Martin said tonight in the Commons

Speaking during continued debate on address in reply to the Throne Speech, Mr. Martin said surplus labor has developed in some areas, but under the circumstances no one could expect the situation to be different

The Government had plans to provide full employment and these plans for a large part were contained in the proposals submitted to the Dominion-Provincial preliminary conference

The Government believed that the bulk of employment could be provided by private enterprise. Private enterprise would be encouraged to provide the bulk of employment. In any lag in employment, the Government would fill in with public projects.

During the war the Government had given labor a charter, had given industry leadership in the promotion of co-operation between labor and management. No prime minister ever had a better understanding of the problems and the rights of labor than Mr King

Following up the establishment of labor-management committees during the war the principle of industrial councils had been accepted. More could be accomplished by conciliation and co-operation than by conflict and by labor and management working at cross purposes

"This Government is determined to see that the gains of labor are not lost," said Mr Martin, "to see that labor does not lose its right to protect itself through its own organization"

There could be no solution of the reconversion problem without proper relationships between the Government and Labor, between Labor and management. Those relationships the Government proposed to foster and maintain

Japanese Atrocities

As British, United States and other prisoners of war, together with some civilian internees, are being released progressively from enemy hands, there is growing a witnessed record of unbelievable savagery, eclipsing the wildest horror tales of the whole war. The Japanese as a conqueror seems to have been under the necessity of demonstrating his superiority to himself by feats of calculated brutality against unarmed and defenceless men and women.

The bayoneting of captives tied to a post, the beheading of flyers brought down in Japanese territory, the burning of naked flesh as a means of torture, the "water cure" borrowed from the Nazis, and many other acts of sheer barbarism, have been substantiated in altogether too many instances to warrant any doubt. Fortunately the witnesses are coming back to us, and we will then have chapter and verse for these savage and entirely premeditated atrocities, which did not win for Japan one solitary gain in the war.

It is a foregone conclusion that the free world will demand the arrest, the trial, and, wherever it is justified, the conviction of the actual Japanese commanders responsible for these inhuman deeds. The worst are not to be mentioned without horror. The lightest were calculated acts of humiliation. The originators and sponsors of such brutal deeds must be brought before the United Nations' War Crimes Commission, and dealt with by proper trial in due course.

That will be the more necessary in the case of Japan because even today her leaders and commanders seem to have their tongues in their cheeks. They still glorify war. They still preach the doctrine of Japan's mission to conquer the world. Some are cautious, and silent. Others have not been so. These others speak openly about another attempt 20 years hence. There must be none. Japan must be rendered impotent.

As part of that process, the ringleaders who fomented Japan into a war of unprovoked aggression must be dealt with. Crimes, certainly, are answerable, and there are those on the enemy's side with much to answer for. Meanwhile everyone in Japan must be made to realize that the war is over, that there will not be another time, and that those who went out of their way to prove themselves to be savages will be tried for that, like the common criminals they were and are.

Faster

Flying speeds and ranges continue to advance. Wing Cmdr. R. H. Merrifield, D.S.O., D.F.C. and Bar, who flew across the Atlantic recently in 6 hours and 58 minutes, westbound, to establish a new record for the Mosquito, developed by the Royal Air Force, hopes to return to Great Britain in less than the 5 hours and 36 minutes, which is the present eastbound record. A Mosquito also holds that. Should he do so, he would crack both records and set a new mark for the Atlantic air passage in both directions.

It does not seem so long ago since 17 hours and 30 minutes was considered very good time for the air passage over the Atlantic, westbound, with the eastbound trip occupying some 14 hours or a little more. Since then, however, thousands of airplanes have been ferried across the ocean, and their speed performance and range have altered materially. By today's standards, the civilian airliner will not equal the time of the warplane, nor is there any reason why it should. On the other hand, it is almost certain that the war speeds of today will be the civilian speeds before many tomorrows.

If that proves so, and the Atlantic crossing comes to be considered as five to six hours long—in place of as many days once taken by passenger steamer—then a breakfast in Montreal and luncheon in London, England, on the same day, will become entirely feasible, perhaps routine. The same speed applied over world air routes as a whole would reduce the globe to the size of a single continent, and that quite clearly is in prospect. The difficult part will be to learn to live on a globe in which geographical divisions are becoming meaningless.

Meat Rationing

Canada has returned to meat rationing, by coupon and token, with current reports from Washington that the United States will suspend meat rationing south of the border by October 1. It has been proved beyond question that the people of this land are ready to do anything that should be done by this nation, both at home and abroad. That feeling is so strong that the reply of Mr. Donald Gordon, chairman of the War Prices Board, that rationing by coupon is the only way, seems to lose much of its validity.

Earlier in the war, which is now the peace, Canadians abstained from buying bacon and pork when told that it was needed for the United Kingdom. They did so voluntarily before rationing was copied from trial plans south of the border. Now the proponents of rationing on this continent seem about to revoke it, while we are going back to it in a still more severe form. One and a third pounds of meat per week will not be of much service to a British Columbia logger, a miner, a fisherman, or those who do hard physical labor in any form.

In this instance, bureaucracy seems to have won. The Government that would not accept conscription for war seems to take a positive delight in ordering civilians about. Little bureaucrats have been installed all over the country. It would seem that they hate to let go. When the new ration book was brought out with 11 pages of coupons only three items were rationed in Western Canada. Now there are four. What about the other seven? Are we going in for rationing in a really big way, when the balance of the world is commencing to march in the opposite direction?

We still believe that the butchers' plan was the better. It rested on the goodwill of the people, and no Government will get far without that.

Hostess House

Recreational facilities, got together hastily for a wartime garrison that was seldom less than 7,000 men while hostilities lasted, were one of the real problems facing Greater Victoria at the outbreak of this war. The Victoria Hostess Club, which opened a service recreation centre at 1052 Fort Street nearly five years ago, will hold its final dance on October 20. In between, approximately 500,000 Canadian men and women in uniform have gone through its doors. That is a record which speaks for itself.

The Hostess House was supported by private donations and served almost entirely by a corp of voluntary workers. More than 500 young women turned out to act as hostesses, while seniors conducted the dry canteen. Thousands of visiting Canadian servicemen and women, as well as those whose homes were here, found at the Hostess House a place where they could relax and have a good time in pleasant, cheery surroundings. The privilege was seldom abused. The greatest proportion of all who went through the doors of the Hostess House played the game according to the rules.

For a voluntary effort, that is a record which stands on a high plane. With simple and unpretentious means the Hostess House set out to bring some cheer to the thousands of men and women who found themselves temporarily in this community, and otherwise much alone. They succeeded. Across Canada today there will be many to recall the warmth, the light, the music and the games which were the evening's course at the Hostess House. The nation, of course, does not give medals for that, but if a good deed is its own reward this one has been richly rewarded in terms of honest human satisfaction. It was well done.

Seen in Passing

The Japanese have done us good service unwittingly. Their repeated flying of paper balloons over the North Pacific has given us a comprehensive report on what takes place with wind currents and temperatures in the atmosphere between fixed levels of altitude. That information can be correlated now, and it should prove of immense service to the flying age that is about to commence. It hints at the existence of "trade winds" in the sky more useful to man than any he has known upon the surface of his oceans. Oddly enough this Continent has the data, while Japan has merely the absence of her bomb-laden balloons.

Six years of war, and war news has brought some individuals to the state where they do not seem capable of taking up their personal lives again. They spend their days in writing letters on international affairs wherein all their solutions are "musts," and "musts" do not often agree. It will come as a distinct shock to such individuals to find that the war is over, and that the average task facing the average person in the peace is how to make an honest and satisfying living right where he is.

An old garden is like an old friend. It has its bad side and its good, its perfections and its imperfections. As with old friends, so the memories come thronging in an old garden of those who walked there and smiled, and sang. Certain spots, given to such memories, can be forever dear. The sun seems to keep for them its warmest light, and the moon its kindest favors. But perhaps it is memory that is the friend, while an old garden merely wakes its echoes.

Sonnet

When I do count the clock that tells the time
And see the brave day sunk in hideous night;
When I behold the violet past prime
And sable curls all silvered o'er with white;
When lofty trees I see barren of leaves,
Which erst from heat did canopy the herd
And Summer's green all girded up in sheaves,
Borne on the bier with white and bristly beard;
Then of thy beauty do I question make
That thou among the wastes of time must go,
Since sweets and beauties do themselves forsake
And die as fast as they see others grow;
And nothing 'gainst Time's scythe can make defence
Save breed, to brave him when he takes thee hence.

"Flying Wings"

E. C. SHEPHERD
North American Newspaper Alliance

LONDON, Sept. 10.—Throughout the war in the military and transport fields there has been no attempt to depart from orthodox types of airplane. But the persistence of unusual designs is indicated by two items of news. Recently at an airfield near London there was a flying competition for tailless model air[illegible] the Burnelli flying wing is announced.

Apart from the helicopter which was adopted for naval purposes, nothing radically different from the ordinary aircraft with fuselage and fixed wings has been generally used for the past six years. Even the helicopter—revolutionary as it may be during the next five years—is not yet every pilot's plaything. An interesting point concerning the flying characteristics of the helicopter is that Britain's Royal Aero Club cannot yet lay down a set of standards for granting helicopter licences to amateurs.

There are no signs that commercial flying will immediately find a place for these advanced designs. Neither in the United States nor in Great Britain have airline companies placed orders for these aircraft which promise special advantages.

Britain, taking the severely practical view and appointing a special committee to define the aircraft the Empire would need, could hardly be expected to launch out, but the United States, restrained less by shrunken resources, has also eschewed adventure in design.

Britain's disinclination to put unusual types into production is not to be explained by lack of them. The flying wing, for instance, was being produced by a British firm when the war broke out, and James Mollison flew a Burnelli flying wing from England to Ethiopia during the war. That was one of the outstanding trips by Mollison, famous for his prewar Atlantic crossings and long period of wartime service as a ferry pilot. So far, the Burnelli enterprise has not been resumed in Britain.

Other types were developed in Britain before and during the war. Primarily, attempts are being made to obtain some of the benefits of the biplane without having to pay for them through the extra drag involved in biplane wings with struts between them.

The designs likely to find a place fairly soon in air transport are the helicopter and some form of the flying wing.

HELICOPTERS USED ON SPECIAL ROUTE

The helicopter, as everyone knows, is designed to solve the question of transport between airports and the centres of big cities. It will not accomplish that purpose until further development has made control in hovering and making vertical landings less a matter of skill on the part of specially trained pilots and more a matter of automatic-action controls. Development of the flying wing also involves the question of control, and beyond that it is unlikely to yield a notable advantage except in quite big aircraft.

No true flying wing has yet been flown. The principle has been established by a number of tailless aircraft. The flying-wing type is essentially an aircraft with the wings swept well back in the shape of a broad arrow with no tail organs, but with fins and rudders set at the wing tips. Theoretically, everything the flying wing carries—crew, passengers, freight, fuel and engines—is contained inside the wing. Hitherto, every so-called flying wing has had a stumpy fuselage.

Unless an aircraft is of huge dimensions, the wing alone cannot be made thick enough to provide accommodation for all the things that ought to go into it. If the point is stretched and the wing is made thicker than need be, speed has to be sacrificed, or power has to be used extravagantly, when long ranges are involved, nothing is gained. A slower speed or more power means allowing extra room in the wing for fuel, leaving less space for the pay load.

Design has now reached the stage, in response to the prospect of heavy traffic on ocean routes, where wings thick enough to contain the biggest air engines can be contemplated.

The big Bristol liner, which will have a loaded weight of 250,000 pounds, is to have its eight Centaurus (2,500 h.p.) engines buried in the wings. Those engines have a diameter of five feet four inches. According to the theory of the flying wing, the Bristol designer might have had a slightly thicker wing if he had decided to do without the fuselage. He could then have had roomy saloons in the wing itself and these would have had windows in the floors as well as in the leading edge of the wing.

There is no need to ask why he decided not to aim at a 250,000-flying wing or why the designers of equally big aircraft in the United States denied themselves the same room.

In stepping up their liners to the 100-ton range the designers have saddled themselves with plenty of research and development work, particularly in relation to undercarriages, handling on the ground, control in the air and the translation of power into thrust.

They would not choose to complicate those scale problems by adding a different control system from that on which so much work has already been done. Furthermore, they would not want to tackle a new set of conditions in excluding engine noise from passenger saloons placed in the same wing as the engines.

If the present experiments in the gigantic succeed, the flying wing will possibly begin to be considered for airliners, but only in the big-scale class does it appear to have a chance.

THE OPENING HE'S LOOKING FOR

Germany's Surrender Negotiations Recounted

Part V

COUNT FOLKE BERNADOTTE
North American Newspaper Alliance

"In long talks with Heinrich Himmler, I tried to show him that there was no longer any question of being true to his oath to Hitler, but that surrender was a matter of life and death for the German people. His reply was always: 'Then what you want me to do is to eliminate the Fuehrer?'

"There was a time when I couldn't answer this in the affirmative, for if I had, I ran the risk of being 'liquidated.' The influence of Fegelein, Ernst Kaltenbrunner, Obersturmbannfuehrer Otto Skorzeny, the chief of the 'Werewolves,' and others of their kind was still great, especially as they had the right to report personally to Hitler.

"During these talks Himmler often spoke to me about the state of Hitler's health, which, according to him, was becoming worse from day to day. Himmler said, however, that Hitler's energy was undiminished. His abnormal way of life, his habit of turning night into day and only sleeping two or three hours, his restless activity and continual outbursts of rage, completely exhausted those near him and made the whole atmosphere unbearable.

"I suggested that the attempt of July 20 on his life may have seriously affected his health, particularly the injuries to his head. Himmler thought this possible, but he pointed out the significance of Hitler's stooping more and more, of his slack appearance, and the marked tremor in his left arm.

"It was in connection with these reports—personally I had not seen Hitler for a long time—that early in April I spoke to a friend of mine, Professor De Crinis, head of the psychiatric section of the Charite Hospital. He said he had observed from photographs in the illustrated papers that Hitler's movements appeared almost paralyzed and this he regarded as a symptom of Parkinson's Disease (paralysis agitans).

"I arranged a meeting between Himmler and De Crinis, to which Himmler summoned the Minister of Health, Leonardo Conti.

"A few days later—it was April 13—Himmler summoned me to his headquarters in Wustrow and took me for a walk in the forest.

"'Schellenberg,' he said, 'I don't think that we can let the Fuehrer go on any longer. Do you believe that De Crinis was right?'

"I answered, 'yes, it is true that it is two or three years since I met Hitler, but from what I can judge of his behavior in recent times, I am convinced that it is high time for you to act.'

"Again and again he asked me what he could do. He said that after all he could not murder the Fuehrer, he could not give him poison, nor could he arrest him in the Reichs Chancellery, for in that case the whole military machine would come to a stop.

"I replied that this would not matter. There was only one way out. He must present himself before Hitler, inform him of everything that had happened recently, and force him to abdicate.

"Himmler said that this was absolutely impossible. The Fuehrer would shoot him on the spot.

"'You must take suitable precautions to prevent this,' I said. 'After all you have a sufficient number of S.S. men capable of arranging an arrest of this kind. If there is no other way, we must get the doctors to help.'

"Our walk went on for an hour and a half. Himmler could not come to a decision, said only that he would arrange a meeting between Professor De Crinis, Professor Morell, Hitler's body physician, Doctor Stumpfegger, his other physician, and Martin Bormann.

"A couple of days later, I asked Professor De Crinis what conclusion he and his colleagues had reached. He answered rather disappointedly that he had discussed with Doctor Stumpfegger the supposed symptoms of Parkinson's Disease. Stumpfegger had not shared his opinion, although he had to accept some of his points. In the end, they had agreed on certain medicines.

"I reported this to Himmler, who begged me insistently to keep this matter entirely to myself.

"During the days which followed, events began to move in the direction I had long anticipated. During the final week in April, I got into touch with the Minister for Finance, Count Schwerin Von Krosigk.

"In several long talks, we agreed that the war must be brought to an end, to save as much of Germany as possible.

"I arranged a meeting for April 19 between Himmler and von Krosigk. Relations between those two had been broken off for a long time. Before the meeting Himmler was extremely worked up and at the last moment wanted to cancel it. However, it took place in the presence of Labor Minister Franz Seldte, who had at one time been the leader of the Stahlhelm party.

"During the meeting, Von Krosigk talked with Himmler while I conferred with Seldte. The latter was of the opinion that Himmler must take over and compel Hitler to read a proclamation to the German people on his birthday, in which he would announce that a plebiscite would be held, a new party formed and the people's courts abolished.

"After the conference Von Krosigk informed me that he had discussed with Himmler all the questions which we had gone over, and earnestly entreated him to act against the Fuehrer.

"When we met to discuss this conference Himmler began to speak about Allied propaganda against him in connection with the concentration camps. 'The whole thing is senseless. It won't in any case make any difference to me, but you must not believe in this propaganda, it isn't true.'"

Although lard is hard to obtain in the city, several motorists who visited country stores on Lower Vancouver Island informed me they found no shortages. . . . Australia cut income taxes 12½ per cent. All Canadians received from Ottawa was a vague reference concerning some revision of incomes in low brackets. Muddling along should be replaced by a clear-cut policy. . . . The first postwar International Boy Scouts' Jamboree will be held in France in 1947. Paris will likely be the scene of the gathering. The largest jamboree, held at Birkenhead, England, in 1929, attracted 50,000 Boy Scouts from 40 different countries. . . . Policemen at Vancouver are allowed to walk their beats without tunics in the Summer, but Victoria constables must wear heavy serge coats with choker collars. . . . "This chicken certainly tickles my palate," Bill, the Broad Street barber, remarked when invited out to dinner. "You mean you like my cooking?" his hostess asked. "Oh, no. I mean you left some of the feathers on," the barber snickered. . . . Then there is the story of the auctioneer playing golf at Uplands. It appears somebody shouted "fore," and the auctioneer immediately yelled, "Do I hear five?" The Keating Squire saw a small boy diligently picking fruit from one of his choicest trees, and shouted lustily from the barn: "Hay, what are you doing in my apple tree?" The lad yelled back: "Believe it or not, I just fell out of a plane."

Propose Certificates

Plans for the entertainment of returning servicemen were laid at a meeting of Greater Victoria municipal representatives and members of the Citizens' Rehabilitation Council in the City Hall yesterday afternoon.

Mayor Percy E. George and the reeves of Esquimalt, Saanich and Oak Bay will be asked to approach the Provincial Government with a view to obtaining assistance in the printing of an illuminated certificate for presentation to discharged service personnel. The certificate will be signed by the mayor and reeves, and will contain an expression of appreciation for the services of men and women from the Victoria area during the war.

As soon as a suitable hall can be obtained the committee will hold a welcome home dance for all discharged servicemen here, and plans other entertainments as more men arrive home.

CHLORINATION

Sir,—My reply to Mr. Christie is, I did not "evade" any point, for no question was put. Now that England has returned to normal production we can obtain the equipment required for ozonization from Great Britain and a better article at [illegible] This continent generally, and the Pacific Coast in particular, is in the "horse and buggy" stage of water purification, and, as nobody can claim to be "expert" who is not familiar with the new system, we should be guided by a British expert in this matter. In my youth I used to drink water from the spring at Malvern Wells, the finest on earth, and our water, if treated with ozone, would be just as good and the greatest asset of our city; in fact, the best on the American Continent. This system is as "capable of immediate application" as anyone could reasonably expect. Rome was not built in a day, and our revolting and out-of-date present system was not started "immediately," either.

Hon. Ian Mackenzie was not "responsible" for it, as he stated. It was forced on him on purely military grounds, owing to fears that proved groundless, and in spite of the excellence of Victoria and Vancouver water. I do not admit "the need of treatment of our water." I never admit anything without proof. Having read all the reports obtainable I can find no evidence whatever in them to justify chlorination; on the contrary, the analyses indicate that our water is within the Phelps test of purity and so beyond the danger zone. This is confirmed by the fact that ever since the Sooke system started Victoria has been remarkably free from water-borne epidemics. The Japan Gulch (Goldstream) subsidiary supply seems to have been subject to slight contamination, but this, I gather, has been rectified. There is no necessity to draw water from this source if found at any future time below the Phelps standard of purity pro tem. I can find no sort of justification for continuation of this toxic contamination by chlorine. Mr. Morton ignores the fact that it is axiomatic that continuous small doses of poison are injurious, that many of our ablest scientists, Darwin included, were amateurs, and I could remind him that years ago I conducted a debate with the health officer of Vancouver on the subject of deficiencies of white-bread diet, and that the case I supported is now proven beyond dispute.

THE ARENA

Sir,—Mr. Ernie Saunders's letter in Thursday's Colonist is very timely. I do not know where the prejudice against the Garbally Road site started, but I think the following points have been overlooked.

Garbally Road is more accessible to Oak Bay, Esquimalt and Up-Island points and to Saanich than proposed site. The ground is ready to start with erection at once, whereas it will take six or eight months to blast out foundations at a cost of probably $50,000 to $70,000 before work can be begun.

Tram lines require little addition to the present track, and clear parking space is ample all round.

I hope second thoughts will prevail and the site changed.

TABLES TURNED

Sir,—The front page picture in your issue of today gives my family and myself great deal of joy and pleasure. I have wanted to see a picture like it for some time. I notice however that the little yellow rats are not bending sufficiently as they insisted on trying to drill us in doing. We had a fair amount of practice in kow-towing to those rats over 3 years in captivity in Santo Tomas Internment Camp, Manila. Now the tables are definitely turned. If I never see another Jap it will be altogether too soon.

The time used is Pacific standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning. To find the depth of water on the sill of the Esquimalt Drydock at any time add 29.6 feet to the height of high water as above given.

Blue Line Files Notice of Appeal in Bus Controversy

Disagreement with the Public Utilities Commission on 24 points was noted in the formal notice of appeal made by the Blue Line Transit Company against the commission's recent approval of the application of the B C Electric Railway Co., Ltd., to operate a Fairfield-Gonzales bus service.

The notice, filed with the Provincial Secretary yesterday at the Legislative Buildings, will be brought before the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council. It was prepared by R D Harvey K C, counsel for the Blue Line.

This action followed a public hearing by the commission on applications of the two transportation companies to operate buses in the Fairfield-Gonzales district.

Some of the exceptions taken by the Blue Line to the decision of the [illegible]

The B C E R does not operate in the territory of the proposed bus line but merely on the fringe of it.

The commission erred in finding that it would be unwise and unfair to give authority to any other transportation company to operate in the area until a Greater Victoria transportation service had been settled by the municipalities concerned.

In this finding the commission contravened the Motor Carrier Act.

The commission erred in being governed or influenced by the city of Victoria's consent to the operation of the B C E R.

The commission erred in finding the consent of any body other than the commission was required.

The granting of the licence to the Blue Line would not result in seriously affecting the business of No 6 street car line.

The commission erred in taking into consideration that the Greater [illegible] discussion a unified transportation system.

CLAIM NO POLICY TO JUSTIFY CLAIM

The commission's decision that it would be unwise and unfair to disturb the positions of the various transit firms when a new service is being considered was faulty.

There has been no consistent policy that justified the decision.

The commission erred in failing to deal with the applications before it on their respective merits.

The commission erred in making its decision "upon the real merits and justice of the case" as required by law so to do.

The commission failed to observe as the guiding principle the conservation of public interest.

That the commission erred in being governed or influenced by the existence of a supposed 'gentlemen's agreement' whereby the City Council may have felt itself obligated to protect the interests of the B C E R regardless of conflict with the due protection or conservation of the public interest.

That the commission erred in having granted the application of the Blue Line for permission to operate a public passenger bus service in the King-George Terrace district failing to grant the application of the Blue Line to provide a service extending into Oak Bay and affording a connecting link with its system already established and operating, thus depriving the residents of Oak Bay of a direct service into the city via the Gonzales district.

The commission erred in failing to recognize the petition of 3 000 residents of Fairfield-Gonzales districts in favor of the proposals offered by the Blue Line as against the proposals offered by the B C E R.

Local Ministers Hold Conference

Speaking at a Victoria Ministerial Association luncheon in the YWCA yesterday Rev Dr J M Macgillivray, moderator of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, said "this is a great day to be alive even though the time is one of great suffering and confusion, because days of storm and tumult challenge the best in man.

"We can be grateful to be alive to rejoice in victory," he added, "but we must be warned that the peace is not yet solved. It is also a great day to preach the gospel of Christ for the greatest need today is a vital and adequate religion that can feed the deep spiritual hunger of man."

The moderator, himself an overseas chaplain during the Great War praised the work of the chaplains in the World War and stated that they had given a ministry which had been invaluable and had measured up to the highest standards.

Rev D L Gordon opened the meeting with a prayer and opening remarks were made by Rev Dr W W McPherson, chairman of the gathering. The moderator was introduced by Rev J L W McLean.

Housing By-Law Before Council

A by-law covering an agreement between the city and Wartime Housing, Ltd., for the construction of veterans houses and the sale of city lots, will be introduced at a City Council meeting this afternoon.

Work on the contract for 150 of the homes for ex-servicemen is being carried out by the Victoria Housing Ltd, a local firm formed for the purpose.

The city is providing 150 lots at a nominal price of $1 under the agreement.

Looking to the future, the by-law calls for 300 dwellings and 300 lots. If the critical need for housing for veterans continues, the plan can be doubled under the by-law.

Approval of the Provincial Cabinet was needed for the agreement between the municipality and a Federal agency and this has been received.

Labor Unions Meet Cabinet

OTTAWA Sept 10 (CP)—Its major objective won, a delegation of approximately 250 labor union members prepared late today to wind up a one-day stand in Ottawa, and to leave behind a ten-man committee to discuss with the Federal Cabinet tomorrow the problems of work and wages that brought it here.

Culmination of a rank and file movement that stemmed from pro- [illegible] factories in Toronto the delegation's leaders announced tomorrow's meeting with the Cabinet late in a day after:

1 Parliamentary police barred delegates from the House until members of Parliament guaranteed their conduct inside.

2 CCF Leader Coldwell protested in the Commons that "citizens who sought to interview members of Parliament were stopped outside the entrance of the building," and mentioned Saskatchewan's Premier T C Douglas as one of those stopped until he could show "some evidence that members of Parliament wished to see them."

3 Prime Minister Mackenzie King joined Mr Coldwell in asking the speaker for an inquiry into the "authority and direction" behind the conduct of the police.

4 Spokesmen for the Progressive Conservative, CCF, Social Credit and Labor Progressive parties addressed a meeting of the delegation in the railway committee room of the Parliament Buildings, and promised support and consideration of a lengthy memorandum outlining its objectives.

The delegation came last night by cars from points in Ontario, Quebec and the Maritime provinces from as far West as Port Arthur and as far East as Amherst N S. Its members represented unions linked with both the two major Canadian unions, the Trades and Labor Congress and the Canadian Congress of Labor and through them with both the C I O and the A F L.

Ambulance Driver Fined in Court

Henry [illegible], driver of a navy ambulance was convicted on a charge of dangerous driving and fined $25 in Esquimalt police court yesterday morning.

R H Gibbs, a taxi driver testified that he was coming out from HMCS Naden to Admirals Road when he saw the ambulance and pulled over to stop. He said the ambulance came onto the road, swung in and hit his car. The bill for damage to the car was $121 he said.

The naval driver pleaded not guilty and told the court that the lights of the car had blinded him. He said he was not sure if the car was coming out of the parking lot or proceeding up the road. There were no passengers in the car he said.

Magistrate H C Hall imposed fines of $2.50 on two motorists who pleaded guilty to infractions of parking regulations.

SOUTHSEA Hampshire England (CP)—The Isle of Wight car ferry the Hilsea was beached here after being holed when she struck a submerged object.

Youth Committee Elects Officers

Alfred Worthington was elected president, and Rene Davies, vice-president, of the Victoria Youth Action Committee at a meeting held last night at the Y W C A.

Other officers named were Joy Fisher, secretary, Mollie Kavil, treasurer and Rene Davies publicity director. Mr Worthington succeeds George Geddie as president.

It was announced that Bishop Harold E Sexton had been invited to address members at a meeting on October 1. He will speak on "Moderation in All Things." At a recent meeting the committee endorsed the stand taken by Bishop Sexton regarding reforms in British Columbia liquor laws.

Members discussed plans for a dance under their sponsorship to be held on September 18 at the Crystal Garden in aid of Queen Alexandra Solarium. Publicity directors for the affair are A Davies, Mollie Kavil and Mavis Pomeroy. Eileen Leckie and Beulah O'Neil are in charge of ticket sales.

Next meeting of the committee will be held on Monday at 8 p.m at the Y W C A.

End Restrictions

Restrictions on the use of water for sprinkling lawns and gardens were canceled during the week-end.

The order included Victoria, Esquimalt, Oak Bay and Saanich. It was authorized by O M Irwin water commissioner, A S G Musgrave Oak Bay municipal engineer and John Tribe, Saanich municipal clerk.

The restrictions were brought into effect to help maintain water pressure during the serious shortage at the peak usage periods in the Summer months.

Community Chest Workers Meet at Government House

Every person should take a personal interest to the work done by social agencies who are members of the Community Chest, Mrs W C Woodward, wife of the Lieutenant-Governor, told a large gathering of women canvassers at Government House yesterday

Mrs. Woodward urged the women to "get to know something about the agencies represented" so that they could explain the splendid work carried on for the poor and the suffering and for all who needed help

Voluntary social work was always more humane and understanding than that carried on so impersonally by governments, Mrs. Woodward said, urging full support of the coming campaign.

Mr F E Winslow, chairman of the committee in charge, wished all canvassers success and outlined the aims and hopes of the committee in charge. Each subscribing society received a full share of proceeds of the Chest and many necessary and deserving charities were thus enabled to carry on for the benefit of the city

Mr Frank Paulding, organizer, said the Community Chest method of co-ordinating charitable organizations had been tried and proved most economical Where individual soliciting could cost as high as 25 per cent of the proceeds, this centralized system cost only 2½ per cent.

But the main object was the efficient help given the needy. Average accepted donation was equivalent to one day's pay, though many gave more Victoria's objective this year was only $83 000, he stated, or approximately one dollar per person. Vancouver's objective, he added, was $500 000 Mr Paulding urged all canvassers to become well acquainted with the charities supported

Miss Sara Spencer presided at the meeting and introduced the speakers

Following the business meeting, Mrs Woodward entertained the guests at tea and Miss Ruth Maclean and several members of the Chest Campaign Committee assisted in serving

Women Ready to Fight Inflation

Canadian women are prepared to take a stiff attitude toward all establishments that deal in black markets and otherwise help inflation to get a start, even to the extent of boycotting if necessary, all stores persisting in illegal practices

This, according to Byrne Sanders, director of the Consumer Branch Wartime Prices and Trade Board, is the stand of some 16,000 key members of Consumer Branch committees across Canada who represent nearly 2 000 000 women shoppers

"In taking a firm stand against individuals who fail to co-operate in the methods set up to fight inflation" Miss Sanders declared, "these women realize that Canada has won an enviable record among the Allied nations in the matter of price control, but that all that has been gained so far can be lost in the months ahead unless they are more determined than ever to finish the task and help bring about a normal transition from war to peace"

CONTINUE WRITING, SOLDIER WILL RETURN

Dear Miss Fairfax

I've been married six years and we have two children My husband is in the army, and recently wrote me not to write too often and that he wouldn't write often either I can't understand it, as he used to write every day He's been in the service only three months I love my husband and wouldn't want anything to come between us

Some time ago my husband fell in love with a certain girl but she told him to stick to his wife I'm sure he meets many girls who would not say this to him, but would accept his attentions, even though married I've always let him have his own way about everything, and although he's a jealous man, I never give him cause to doubt my love Do you think he may again be falling in love with someone else which causes him to ask me to write less often?—Puzzled Wife

Your husband evidently belongs to a very susceptible type of man, judging from what you tell me in your letter which unfortunately is too long to print. It looks as if he had again met some temporary fate. You've had these experiences before and come through them by not taking them too seriously or resorting to nagging Just follow this procedure again.

No matter how ardent a skirt-chaser a man may be children prove to be a pretty steady anchor in marital upheavals Disregard his request that you write less often Write as often as you please—cheerful, amusing letters telling him about the children, happenings in the neighborhood etc Doubtless, he'll come out of this last case of day-dreaming as he has out of other affairs.

LUNCH DATES NOT ALWAYS SERIOUS

Dear Miss Fairfax, We've been married 12 years and have three lovely children We've always been congenial until recently, when someone told me that my husband has been lunching almost every day with a young girl in the same plant She's many years younger than he is and I'm so afraid our home will be broken up on account of this.

Do you think I should go to this girl at her home and ask her to stop seeing my husband? I just don't know what to do Please help me—Desperate.

Many women have had this cross to bear and have won out because they've kept their heads Above all, don't go to see this girl, and don't let on to your husband that you know about it, because then he will have nothing to conceal from you

It's a pretty low thing for a young girl with youth and all of life before her, to wreck a home where there are young children. Try to keep your head and carry on as if everything were as it should be

Philandering husbands have their lucid intervals and realize that, with a siren on one side of the scales and young children in the other they lose more than they gain in the long run

Red Cross Ready to Supply Clothing to Needy in Europe

Knitted service comforts, made by members of the Victoria and District Red Cross branch and now in the provincial Red Cross warehouse in Vancouver, are being repacked as quickly as possible and shipped to Europe These will be distributed to Red Cross societies represented in the Canadian Allied Relief Fund for Winter use of needy European people Unknitted khaki and heavy wheeling wool, which branches are also turning in to headquarters will, in all probability, be offered to the same organizations for its use.

While no more knitted service comforts will be made by Red Cross workers, women will enter a concentrated phase of Red Cross work importance of which cannot be overstressed, it is stated by Red Cross officials Millions of people in Europe are without clothes which must be supplied from those countries which did not suffer devastation

This is a direct challenge to the Canadian Red Cross, states Mrs Clara McEachren, national work chairman, who points out that the Red Cross is committed by its charter to assist in work for mitigation of suffering throughout the world in time of peace or war.

That is why the local Red Cross branch at 1010 Government Street has reopened and why it needs the support of every woman Thousands of articles of clothing are required, and this month members will start on this work of civilian sewing which, to its first quota will consist of making of dresses and undergarments for children and women Babies layettes will also be an important part of this work and all service fingering wool in navy, air force or grey will be made into civilian knitted garments

Mrs. Moore Heads Ex-Service Women

Mrs R Moore was elected president of the Victoria Ex-Service Women's Branch, No 182 at a recent meeting in the Britannia Branch board room Other officers elected for the ensuing year were Miss Woodward vice-president, Miss M Scott secretary-treasurer Miss Clark Mrs G. A. Jennings and Mrs M Church, executive Discussions re housing lots and positions available for ex-service women were held Meetings in future will be held the first Thursday each month. He used to be thin, nervous, under par...

● His meals were deficient in important food elements needed for health and appetite. He wouldn't eat, became thin, nervous and below par. Then his mother learned about Ovaltine which provided these necessary food elements in delicious form —soon his zest for meals returned—and look at him now!

As a "protecting" food-drink, Ovaltine adds to a child's meals essential food elements most likely to be lacking. Ovaltine is thus an insurance against those food deficiencies that retard normal growth and development.

Ovaltine food-drink is an excellent source of the Vitamins A, B_1 and D. It also contains almost all of the precious food elements necessary for health and top vitality, especially those needed for vitamin teamwork, such as calcium, phosphorus, iron, protein and fuel-food elements.

Three servings of Ovaltine furnish a significant portion of a child's daily requirements of these essential food elements needed for building sturdy bodies.

So—if your child eats poorly, is thin, nervous and under par, why not start giving Ovaltine regularly. Get Ovaltine today at your drug or food store.

In a letter to The Times the Air Chief Marshal, Sir Arthur Longmore, replies to the recent assertion of the Education Minister Ellen Wilkinson that Britain is still a first-class power by saying he considers the word "nation" should be substituted for the word "power."

As a United British Empire "we should qualify in the highest category, he says, but as an individual member of the Commonwealth we most certainly don't. The Statute of Westminster was a grand conception and the policy of educating the colonies up to a standard where they may achieve independence most laudible, but 'don't let us deceive ourselves' that the result leaves Britain where she was as a great power in the days gone by," he concludes.

from the burden of wartime taxation.

6. "We will support all reasonable measures to increase the general volume of international trade and Canada's share of it."

7. The Opposition would support the United Nations Charter and the Bretton Woods monetary agreements.

MASS DESIRE FOR PEACE NECESSARY

While the Opposition Leader commended the United Nations Charter, he warned that world peace could not be gained by signatures on a page. A will to peace on the part of the "mass minds of every generation" was necessary.

On external trade, he was critical of the Throne Speech for not setting out concrete measures instead of generalities. He asked what proposals were in mind for restoring normal trade with Britain, increasing trade with the United States, South America and other countries and for participating in the development of undeveloped areas.

One of the strongest advocates of a revision of Dominion-Provincial financial relations during his 20-year term as Premier of Manitoba, Mr. Bracken was critical of the Government for delay in getting negotiations going with the provinces, but was hopeful of their success.

He criticized the proposal that the provinces share 50-50 in the cost of pensions for the needy from 65 to 69 years of age, but approved the proposal for the Dominion to pay pensions to all from the age of 70 upwards.

EVERY PERSON AFFECTED CANADIAN

"What must not be lost sight of in the discussion of Dominion-Provincial relations is that every person affected is a Canadian, no matter in what province he may reside," said Mr. Bracken.

"What we must find is a way to see that no Canadian is denied a decent level of social services because of his geographic location or that he has to pay a confiscatory rate of taxation to secure it because geography finds him in a certain place."

The Government had been guilty of "some extravagances unparalleled since Confederation" in spending money during the war, he said, warning that the Opposition would demand reductions in taxation and prudence in spending.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP)—Industrial specialties climbed to eight-year peaks in today's stock market, and rails turned on a fair amount of recovery steam, but many leaders stumbled over light selling.

Buying attention centred on issues that stand to benefit by peace-[illegible] spending. Earnings, dividends and inflation thinking served as bolstering factors.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was up .2 of a point at 68.8, a top figure since May 5, 1937. The industrial average edged forward .1 to 82.3, a high since Aug. 31, 1937. Of 919 issues registering, 401 advanced, 285 were down and 233 unchanged.

Little Stories for Bedtime

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

AN UNWELCOME VISITOR

No one knew what to make of Peter Rabbit. The sulks were quite spoiling Peter's nature. Never had he been known to sulk like this before. Mrs Peter actually threatened to leave him. She said she wouldn't live in the same Brier Patch with such a sulky fellow. His friends who happened to visit the Old Brier Patch that afternoon made up their minds that in the future they would keep away from there unless Peter got over the sulks promptly.

But Peter didn't. He not only remained sulky all that afternoon, but he was still sulky the next day. The trouble with sulkiness is that when you once get that way it is very hard to get out of it. Just from thinking about the same thing over and over Peter began to imagine things. He imagined that when his friends came to see him they merely wanted to laugh at him because he had been so badly beaten in the jumping match with Nimbleheels the Jumping Mouse. He imagined that they were talking about him among themselves.

In this Peter was quite right. They were talking about him, but they were not saying the things he imagined they were. They had quite forgotten all about the jumping match and what they were saying was that Peter was not at all the kind of a fellow they wanted to have anything to do with if this was his real nature, and that it was a shame to see such a lovable fellow as Peter always had been spoil his own nature.

"I beg your pardon, Peter Rabbit, is this the dear Old Brier Patch I've heard so much about?"

So all the next day after the jumping match there was not a single visitor to the dear Old Brier Patch until just before time for jolly, round, red Mr Sun to go to his bed behind the Purple Hills. And Peter tried to make himself believe he didn't care. He tried to make himself believe that he didn't even want to see anybody again, and that all he wanted was to be left wholly alone. Of course this wasn't true, for Peter is very social, as you know.

But he tried to make himself believe it was true and kept right on sulking and sulking. Down at the very bottom of his heart Peter was wishing that someone would come to visit him before the Black Shadows came creeping out from the Purple Hills. The first of them had just started when a thin, high squeaky voice said "I beg your pardon, Peter Rabbit, is this the dear Old Brier Patch I have heard so much about?"

At the mere sound of that voice Peter grew very stiff. Slowly he turned his head and glared so much as Peter can glare at—Nimbleheels himself. Yes, sir, there sat Nimbleheels—himself. Peter could hardly believe his own eyes. You see Nimbleheels was the very last person in the world Peter wanted to see. Was it not to Nimbleheels that he owed all his troubles? Anyway he felt that it was. So he tried his best to glare fiercely at his pretty, trim little visitor.

"What if this is the dear Old Brier Patch?" demanded Peter gruffly.

"Nothing very much, only I would like to spend the night here if you don't mind," replied Nimbleheels faintly. "I will feel a lot safer from Hooty the Owl," he added.

It was that mention of Tooly that stopped the sharp reply which was on the very tip of Peter's tongue. He couldn't send little Nimbleheels, unwelcome though he was, out to where he would be in danger from Hooty the Owl.

"I suppose you can stay, but keep out of my sight," he replied ungraciously.

PLANETRY GUIDE FOR TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 11, 1945

Keywords for the Day: Enterprise, activity, opportunity.

Tuesday in General: This should be an active and stimulating day in which you can get a lot accomplished especially during the evening. Mix with friends, associates and elders, encourage them to express themselves and seek to gain ideas of enlightenment from what you see, hear and read. The same stimulating influences are at work during the day, but they are mixed with inharmonious angles which will call for tact and discrimination.

If September 11 Is Your Birthdate: Many happy returns! Famous persons born on this date include Wm S Porter (O Henry), author famous for his Short Stories; H B Endicott, shoe manufacturer; Thomas B Mosher, publisher and editor.

Your Year Ahead: This can be a constructive year for you, especially in connection with self-improvement through study, reading, contacts. Associate freely with others, be alert to ideas, information, contacts.

Preventing Heart Failure

By Dr J B WARREN

During an illness a heart that ordinarily beats 72 times to the minute may have to beat 120 to 140 for a number of days thus doing twice as much work. However, some simple condition unknown to the individual because no pain is present, just a tired feeling, may put up the heart beat to 90. This simple condition is infected teeth, tonsils, gums, sinuses. Their fight against the body is so quiet, so gradual that the individual is unaware of it. These infections use up a lot of the heart's reserve power.

Campaign for Voters

The National Union of Machinists has made preparations to get every member eligible to vote in the coming provincial election on the voters' list. Lists of registrars of the four municipalities have been prepared and hung up in all shipyards. Commissioners have been appointed from the membership who will place members on the voters' list. The union has written the Provincial Secretary, protesting the short time allotted for registration, and urging Hon. George S Pearson to extend the time until September 30.

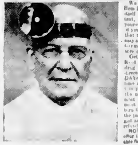
How You Can Get Quick Relief From Sore, Painful Piles

Most people seem to think the only way to get relief from their sore, painful piles is by local treatment. Local treatment may give temporary relief from the itching but you can easily see why such treatment will not correct the cause of your piles.

No lasting freedom from pile misery can be had unless the cause of the trouble is corrected. Piles are due to internal causes so the best way to get lasting relief is to treat them internally with a medicine like Hem-Roid.

Hem-Roid is a formula that has been used for over 30 years by thousands of pile sufferers. It is a small, highly concentrated tablet, easy and pleasant to use. This cleverly compounded tablet form directs its medical action to relief of the congestion that is the real cause of your piles. Hem-Roid promotes free, easy and comfortable bowel movements, quickly relieves itching irritation and soreness and stimulates better blood circulation in the lower bowel. With good blood circulation in the lower bowel the painful pile tumors soon heal over leaving the sensitive rectal membranes clean and healthy.



Posed by a Professional Model

We invite you to try Hem-Roid and let it prove itself. You can make your test in the privacy of your own home. NO COST if you are not convinced that this is an amazingly easy and surprisingly effective method of treating your sore painful piles.

Get a package of Hem-Roid today from any drug store and use it as directed for JUST FIVE DAYS. At the end of that time if you are not absolutely sure Hem-Roid is the quickest, pleasant and most effective pile treatment you ever tried, return the unused portion of the package to your druggist and he will promptly refund your money.

NOTE: This generous offer is backed by a reliable firm doing business in Canada for a good many years. Hem-Roid must help your pile condition quickly, easily and pleasantly or this simple, easy test costs you nothing. Try it today.

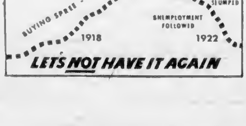
DEFLATION

AND YOU'VE GOT INFLATION

Let's not deceive ourselves by the belief that the danger is over—just because the war is won.

And let's remember that inflation is always followed by deflation with its misery of bankrupt businesses, mortgage foreclosures and unemployment.



It's your job and your savings that are at stake.

The danger of inflation, with its black shadow—deflation,—will remain as long as goods are scarce and insufficient to meet demands. That may be 6 months, 12 months, 18 months. Only time will tell. As quickly as controls are unnecessary, they are dropped.

After nearly 6 years of war, industry cannot switch over to normal production of civilian goods by a snap of the fingers. That takes time. The whole system of raw materials, labor and production has to be re-geared.

* * *

In the meantime, price ceilings, rationing and other controls are the safeguard for every one of us. It's everybody's responsibility to help make them work.

SO—Keep on watching your buying. Don't rush to buy scarce goods.
Keep on saving your money. Put it into Victory bonds and War Savings certificates.
Keep on supporting wage and price controls, and rationing.
Keep on fighting inflation and its black shadow . . . deflation.

This advertisement is issued by the Government of Canada to emphasize the importance of preventing a further increase in the cost of living now and deflation and unemployment later

London Stocks

LONDON, Sept. 10 (Reuters).—The stock market was extremely quiet today with a generally steady undertone. Small week-end orders were absorbed but there were no signs of any wide expansion in business.

Industrials were easy owing to lack of interest with some breweries and radio issues under pressure. Textiles met with quiet support.

MEAT TOKENS

AND THEIR USE

With the resumption of meat rationing, tokens are being used as coupon change. Eight tokens are equivalent to one brown "M" coupon.

CANADA MEAT VIANDE RATION

Tokens are a convenience to everyone. Their use makes it possible to include in the ration "fancy meats" and canned meats, the coupon value of which is necessarily small; to reduce the work of suppliers and banks in handling coupons; to conserve meat by making it unnecessary to buy to the full value of the coupon or coupons in a single purchase; and to enable small families and persons living alone to purchase according to their needs.

TOKEN FACTS

Tokens may be used only to make coupon change.

A consumer may be given no more than seven tokens at one time; more are not needed for any purchase of meat.

Tokens may be exchanged for "M" coupons only when meat is being purchased.

Tokens may not be passed from one dealer to another.

Tokens remain valid until declared invalid.

1 Token is good for:
2 oz. of meat in group A
3 oz. of meat in group B
4 oz. of meat in group C
5 oz. of meat in group D
6 oz. of meat in group E

Playing on defence, it is often wise to imitate the declarer's discards, i.e., to throw a card from the same suit that he selects. Needless to say, however, this general rule must be qualified by individual circumstances. There was no excuse for West's discarding in today's deal.

West opened his fourth highest heart and dummy's [illegible]. The spade queen was allowed to ride. West won, cashed the heart ace, and then led a third round of hearts.

After winning with dummy's heart king, declarer cashed the rest of his spade tricks, discarding a diamond from his own hand. West, naturally wanting to keep his established heart, and apparently determined to guard the club suit at all costs, also let go a diamond. This, of course, was extremely favorable to the declarer's cause. He cashed the diamond ace and led toward his own hand. West collected the king and his good heart, but the rest of the tricks belonged to the enemy. Three no trump, bid and made.

Even if South had not started out by bidding one diamond, West's discard in that suit would have been highly injudicious. Surely there was no more reason to think that South had the A-K-J of clubs, with nothing in diamonds, than that he held the diamond queen with [illegible] to blank the K-J of diamonds so that the jack would drop on the ace, was the next thing to surrendering.

MINOR HOCKEY COACH PASSES SUDDENLY

Passing over the week-end of Johnny Fox, 35-year-old coach of the Victoria Minor Hockey Association, and a member of the C.P.R. Tennis Club, probably came as a distinct shock to his many friends.

But of those who knew him and were in close association with him it is doubtful if any of them will miss Johnny Fox more than the youngsters who played in the Victoria Minor Hockey Association.

Interested in sports and always ready and willing to lend a hand and give advice to up-and-coming young athletes, Fox became associated with the Victoria Minor Hockey Association at its inception three seasons ago. He took a keen interest in the young players and gave them much valuable assistance.

Johnny Fox, like a lot of other interested sports workers, was always in the background, but this did not hinder his usefulness. He did a grand job with the young hockey players and earned the respect and admiration of every one of them. Now that he has passed on he will be sorely missed by all of the members and officials of the Victoria Minor Hockey Association.

Ivan Temple, well-known figure in local hockey circles and a prominent member of the Victoria Minor Hockey Association, had this to say of the late Johnny Fox last night: "Every boy who ever donned a pair of skates and played with the Victoria Minor Hockey Association is going to miss Johnny Fox. He was a great worker, an inspiration to the boys and well liked by all, and really did a he-man's job as our coach."

YOUTH'S ALERTNESS PAID OFF FOR OWNER

Thirteen-year-old Bobby Ball is one of Vancouver Island's most promising young horsemen, and in addition, is a very alert youngster.

His alertness saved Bob Shanks, Victoria thoroughbred owner, many anxious moments and probably a fine from the Racing Association last Saturday.

Mr. Shanks owns Zelpha Lad, and made arrangements at Vancouver to enter the thoroughbred in Saturday's racing at the Willows. It was while the owner was on the Mainland that little Bobby Ball, after seeing the horse entered in the overnights, brought it in from the ranch at Cedar Hill in time for the racing program.

"The youngster certainly did me a good turn. His alertness enabled Zelpha Lad to run in Saturday's race and saved me from having to do a lot of explaining to the Racing Association," Mr. Shanks said yesterday.

Son of a veteran of the first Great War, Bobby Ball carried off top honors in the children's jumping class at the Victoria horse show on May 24 and again at the Saanich Exhibition. Exceptionally fond of horses, the youngster is happiest when he is seated on his favorite jumper.

HERE'S ONE WAY TO PICK THE WINNERS

Persons who follow the gee-gees figure out some great schemes in their efforts to pick the winners, and the fad of taking a horse because of its name is no exception.

Two success stories on this type of "picking" reached the sports department yesterday, and in case you're interested, we are passing them along.

A well-known local photographer by the name of Kinsman backed Vernon Kinsman in the sixth race yesterday at the Willows and collected 27.15 for his $2. Now he's "beefing" because he did not wager 250 on the same bangtail.

Then there's the case of a certain police officer whose first name is "Chris." Coaxed by his superior to back Chris Junior, the lucky gentleman placed his wager. Chris Junior won, the fortunate gentleman collected. He had no "beef." In fact he was quite tickled to win. Some people are that way.

On sunless days a faint shadow cast by the gnomon does not wander around the arc but remains stationary halfway between 2 and 3. For 300 years this dial has accurately forecast the death hour of the ruler in Munich. It has again proved prophetic in the case of Hitler. Public Choice Mounts Score at the Willows

Get Down in Front in Five of Seven Races At Local Track—Raoul Alonzo Is Set Down

Form players had their innings yesterday at the popular five-furlong racing strip at the Willows, with public choice mounts getting down in front in five of the seven races.

In the other two events on the attractive card Martimer, winner of the fifth, and Brilliant Help, winner of the final race of the day, returned lucky punters with $17.30 and 215.85 respectively, for a $2 nose wager.

Running right back to his form in Saturday's race, Brilliant Help, a six-year-old gelding from the H. G. Leggat Stables, scored the first "double" of the present meeting. With Johnny Hruschak in the saddle Brilliant Help made every post a winner and won easily.

Martimer, winner of the fifth event, provided lucky punters with their biggest straight pay-off of the day—$17.30 for $2. Outrun in the early going, Martimer improved his position going down the back stretch and won going away.

Raoul Alonzo piloted Ruby Pagan home in front in the opening event. The winner got away fast and showed her heels to the field. Seedcoe was second and Pinchy Jake was third.

Immediately following the race Alonzo was called up before the stewards and after an investigation was set down for three days for crowding the field at the gate.

Getting up on the drive home The Chimera with Johnny Hruschak aboard was the winner of the second race. Your It after showing in front in the stretch, lasted to take the place money, and Bandra was third.

Having the speed of his field and getting a good ride from Jockey Red Neal, Chris Junior made every post a winner in the third event at six furlongs and 30 yards. Lillooet Boy, the favorite, trailed the winner all the way. Little Pekoe was third.

Tommy Cox, local hardboot, brought Uri Thols to the wire in the fourth. Hustled to the front early, the winner showed a clean pair of heels all the way. Dodd was second and St. Orren was third.

Vernon Kinsman won the Oak Bay Handicap for two-year-olds at five and one-half furlongs. Third choice in the wagering, the black gelding under good handling by Hernandez won easily. Carberry moved up entering the stretch and unable to catch the winner finished second. Swany was third.

Johnny Hruschak and Hernandez led the day's riders, each putting over two winners. Tommy Cox, Red Neal and Raoul Alonzo had a leg up on the other winners.

Wagering continued brisk and showed a 10 per cent increase over the same day last year.

Schott Registers Kayo Over Fiucia

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP)—Freddie Schott, undefeated Paterson, N.J., heavyweight, tonight knocked out Freddie Fiucia of Newark in the ninth round of the scheduled ten-round Madison Square Garden bout, but Athletic Commission officials said immediately afterward the purses of both fighters would be held up pending an investigation.

Schott, 207¾, had Fiucia, 190, on the floor seven times as he chalked up his 40th ring victory.

At the end of the fourth round, Chief Deputy Commissioner James Bruno of the State Athletic Commission warned Fiucia's handlers he would have to fight harder or his end of the purse would be held up. At the end of the fight he walked to Fiucia's corner again and said the purse would be held up.

Brentwood Aces Win Men's Provincial Fastball Title

An underrated ball club all season, Brentwood Aces climaxed their most successful year at Royal Athletic Park on Sunday when they swept both ends of a double-header from the Western Shipyards, Vancouver, by 8-4 and 7-2 scores to win the provincial men's senior "B" fastball title in two straight games. The championship trophy was presented to the winners at the conclusion of the games by Wally Yeamans, president of the British Columbia Fastball Association.

Alf Aspinall and Ross Knott, who pitched the Aces to the city and Island championships, were the winning hurlers. Aspinall allowed nine hits in winning the first contest, while Knott limited the Vancouverites to six blows in the nightcap. Both received steady support both in the field and at the plate from their hustling teammates.

Brentwood took an early lead in the opener when they took advantage of a base on balls and an error to start a rally that resulted in three runs. The shipyarders pecked away at Aspinall with singletons in the second, fourth and fifth to tie the score but the locals came back in their half of the fifth with a pair of runs on singles by Hal Yardley and Brian Slugaett and Ronnie Benn's double to score the winning runs. Each club added a run in the ninth, Aspinall pitching himself out of a bad spot after being reached for three straight hits.

In the second game Brentwood again went into an early lead when they scored three runs in the first two innings to take a 5-2 lead and win from there unextended as Knott retired the Mainland hitters without much trouble, being scored on once in the first, fourth and seventh.

Hal Yardley paced the winners at the plate in the two games, picking up six hits in 10 trips to the plate in addition to turning in a smart performance defensively.

West Coast B	010 110 001—4	9	1

Shipyarders Turn Back Bluejackets In Deciding Game

Register 6-3 Triumph Before 2,500 Fans—Jimmy Morrison and Jack Walker Hit Homers

With Cy Shillito coming back after only two days' rest to hurl winning baseball after a shaky first inning, V.M.D. won possession of the Rithet Cup at Royal Athletic Park last night when they turned back the Navy, 6-3, for their fourth win in the fifth game of the series. Well over 2,500 fans crowded the park and saw a bitterly-contested affair with feelings running high from the start.

Trouble which had been brewing all through the series, started with opposing players jockeying each other before the game was under way. Umpires came in for a great deal of abuse with the sailors threatening to forfeit the game after a call by Umpire Watson at second base, in the first inning. Strouiger was on second by virtue of a double when Parkins attempted the hidden ball trick and sneaked up behind the V.M.D. shortstop, who was caught flatfooted. Watson called the runner safe, precipitating a storm of protest. Parkins had to be forcibly restrained from attacking the arbiter and play was not resumed for some minutes as Navy players held a dugout meeting before deciding to continue.

George Cole, Navy manager and first base coach, caused some excitement in the fourth when he was thrown out of the game by Umpire Bridgwood after some remarks following a close play on Latiff. Extremely reluctant to leave, Cole was finally taken from the scene by three or four Navy players, shouting his defiance to the very end. Bobby Wiegand added to the din in the sixth when he took exception to Brian Forster after the V.M.D. third sacker had sacrificed and squared off, but the players were kept apart without doing damage.

Don Johnston was given the task of keeping the sailors in the running. Coming back after a single day's rest, the blond right-hander came up with a game performance and might have won but for a home run ball he tossed to Morrison in the first. He allowed eight hits, three of them bunts, and seemed to be getting stronger as the game progressed.

WALKER AND MORRISON CLOUT HOMERS IN FIRST

Dietrich opened the game with a double and the highly partisan crowd were given a chance to shout when Walker cracked out a towering home run over the centrefield fence to put the Navy ahead. However, their joy was shortlived as V.M.D. came right back with four runs in their half for enough runs to win the game.

Garnet caught the Navy infield napping and bunted his way to first. Patterson reached first as Latiff fumbled his ground ball and went to second as the third baseman heaved it wildly past first. Morrison followed with his circuit clout over the fence in left centre. Strouiger doubled, stole third after he was called safe on the much-debated decision, and scored as Parkins' throw on Taylor's ground ball pulled Wiegand off the bag at first.

Navy could do little with Shillito from there, managing to pick up their last run in the fourth when Strouiger's error put a man on. Winners added singletons in the fourth and sixth, scoring the first on a squeeze play after two singles put a runner on third, and combining two singles with Bayduck's error and a sacrifice for the second.

Wiegand and Dietrich shared half of the Navy's eight hits, while Cy Shillito helped his own cause with two hits in three trips. Forster provided the fielding highlight in the first when he robbed Bayduck of a hit by making a leaping backhand catch of a line drive.

Sporri, Duncan Leading Riders

At the conclusion of the second day of racing at the Willows, the race for the riding honors finds five jockeys in a close battle. Emil Sporri, the Swiss veteran, who was the leading jockey on the Vancouver tracks this season, shares a tie with Harvey Duncan for top spot, each having 15 points. Johnny Hruschak, who was in the saddle on two winners yesterday, is in third place, one point back, while Orlando Hernandez and Rosaul Alonzo, two of the Mexican contingent, are tied for fourth with 13 points each.

Duncan, Hernandez and Alonzo have each ridden three winners with Hernandez showing the best record, piloting three winners and a show out of four mounts.

Points are figured on a basis of four for first, two for place and one for show. The winner will receive a silver fox fur, donated by Alf Hyams, New York Fur Comany, Vancouver.

TOAST and TEA

By J V McAREE

As illustrating one of the differences between English and American treating habits, a well-known American newspaperman recalls the time he was in Havana in 1898. There were several war correspondents there at the time, and among them was a roly-poly Englishman. He invited his fellow pressmen up to his room for a game of poker. They had just become seated when he ordered a bottle of champagne—and one glass. The Americans stared, but liking the little Englishman they just took it for granted that this was the way things were done in England. So they all followed suit, and spent the evening each with his own glass, and each with a bottle of champagne. They reported that they all had a good time. Later on they were to recall the name of the little English war correspondent. It was Winston Churchill.

Total Abstinence

Referring to the recent controversy over the British Columbia liquor laws in his pulpit in First United Church last Sunday, Rev Dr Hugh A McLeod declared the United Church stood for total abstinence and for self-denial for the sake of the young people in the church

"The appeal to the majority as being in favor of unrestricted sale of intoxicants" he continued, "is not valid in my view and in the view of the United Church We are not here to be led by majorities even if they favor freer availability of intoxicants which, in Victoria is by no means certain"

FAIRFIELD
IF YOU'RE LOOKING FOR A SOUND INvestment, here's a rooming house that gives with the rent. Apart from a suite lived in by you, there's $60 in revenue. On a large lot, near the park—just a breeze, and lots of raspberries and apple trees. The garden's good, full of stuff, automatic hot water, so all have enough. It's central heating, just 2 years old, so roomers are stickers, never cold. Regardless of the color of the forthcoming bus, it passes right by, no waiting or fuss. Cooking on the back of an iron just doesn't go, so rooms are equipped with an electric stove. The reason for selling I guess I must tell, it's too much for me as I'm not very well. It's $6,000 cash and the title is clear, come to 658 Harbinger and see what is here.

Close Finishes Marked Sunday Yacht Racing at Cadboro Bay

Close finishes featured the several yachting contests at Cadboro Bay on Sunday morning last, when the fifth of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club's 1945 series for stars, snipes, dinghies and Lightning class boats [illegible] series for cruisers were sailed in a fresh northerly breeze, which provided ideal sailing conditions.

Leading star boat was Mintaka, which finished just 18 seconds in front of Iolanthe and 56 seconds ahead of Aquila. Redskin was first in the snipe class, two minutes in advance of Restless. First dinghy to cross the finish line was Kismet, leading Penguin by 80 seconds. In the Lightning class the difference between Aerial and Iona was just 11 seconds. Fastest time in the cruisers event was made by Margaret D., with thirty seconds to the good over her nearest competitor, Lalonga.

The breeze continued to hold fresh throughout the race, but there were some soft spots along the north shore of Cadboro Bay, where Lalonga, having established a good lead over the other contestants in the "C" class craft, got into trouble, giving the following craft, carrying the breeze, an opportunity to gain on her, with Margaret D. pulling out ahead and finishing in first place.

The course for "B" series boats was from clubhouse to beach mark, to Flower Island, to Cattle Point, [illegible] the finish off the clubhouse. For the "C" series event the course was from clubhouse to Cattle Point, to Jimmy Jones Island, to beach mark, to clubhouse, twice around. Officer of the day was Rear Commodore Dr B E Nickells. The stars started at 10:30, the snipes at 10:35, the dinghies and lightning class at 10:40 and the "C" class cruisers at 10:45. The boats finished as follows:

Stars—Mintaka, Barrett, 12 04 32; Iolanthe, Miss McKay, 12 04 46; Aquila, Miss Bride, 12 05 04; Cygnus, Love, 12 37.44.

Snipes — Redskin, Nickells, 12 27 56; Restless, Warrender, 12 30 04; Klatawa, Moore, 12 31 47; Iahkoodah, James, 12 33 43; Benrobbin, Dyson, 12 39 04.

Lightning Class — Aerial, Dowell, 12 19 13; Iona, McKinnon, 12.19 29.

C Class Cruisers — Margaret D., Wright, 12 30 04; Lalonga, James, 12 31 34; Shangrala, Walsh, 12 42 37; Crest, Jukes, 12.47.02.

Eagles and K.V.'s Register Wins in Fastball Fixtures

K V's and Eagles fastball clubs advanced in the play for The Colonist Knockout Cup at Central Park last night when they came up with victories over the Sports Club and the R C E M E respectively. The former won their way into the final round with their 6-4 decision over the Sports Club, while Eagles qualified to meet the Brentwood Aces in the last semi-final by virtue of their 9-5 triumph over the Army nine.

Away to a three-run lead in the first frame K V's were forced to come up with a two-run rally in the fifth to win as their opponents finally tied the score in the fourth. Burtl and Jones shared the mound duties for the losers, with Minnis going all the way for the K V's.

R C E M E, still winless after a full season of fastball, made it close last night but after pulling up within one run of tying the count in the seventh inning saw the Eagles stage a five-run rally in their half to cinch the verdict. Losers managed to count twice in the first of the eighth but the game was called when darkness intervened and ended their competition for the year still lacking a triumph.

Short scores: R

R C E M E 110 000 12—5

Eagles 200 110 5x—9

Batteries—Loiselle and Sylvester, D. Taylor and Young. R

Sports Club 101 101 0—4

K V's 301 020 0—6

Rogers Disposes Of Sports Club

Sale of the Sports Club, Yates and Douglas Street, to local interests for an undisclosed sum, was announced last night by Hal Rogers, owner and manager.

In making the announcement of the disposal of his interests in the club, Mr Rogers stated that he plans to take a two months' vacation before making plans to enter into a new business venture here.

However, he will continue his interest in local sports, and has already made plans to sponsor a men's basketball team and two bowling teams, men's and women's in the local leagues.

During the fastball season now drawing to a close, Rogers sponsored a men's and a women's team in the Lower Island Fastball Association.

City Man Wounded by Accidental Gunshot

OTTAWA, Sept 10 (CP)—Warrant Gunner Fred Massingham, of Victoria, a member of the crew of the Canadian anti-aircraft cruiser Prince Robert, was wounded in the left arm when a Sten gun discharged accidentally in the occupation operations at Hongkong, Naval Headquarters announced here today.

Massingham discovered Japanese looters at the Kowloon Railway Station and chased them. He was leaping from the railway station platform when his Sten gun accidentally discharged. The bullet hit his holstered revolver and ricocheted through his left arm. He has been sent back to Britain in the Royal Navy hospital ship Oxfordshire.

Victoria Officer Is in Command of Newest Destroyer

CLYDEBANK, Scotland, Sept 10 (CP)—Canada's newest destroyer, H M C S Crescent, was commissioned today and sea trials will start shortly.

At the brief ceremony, conducted in a thick mist, Lt.-Cmdr C. P.

LT.-CMDR. C. P. NIXON

Nixon, 30, of Victoria, B.C., commanding officer, thanked the builders for providing "such a fine ship."

The Crescent, first of the Crescent Class destroyers, is larger than Canada's River Class destroyers but smaller than the Tribal Class destroyers. She has a displacement of 2,500 tons, a designed speed of more than 30 knots, and carries a crew of about 250.

Lt.-Cmdr Nixon, who became Canada's youngest destroyer captain when he took over H M C S Chaudiere in January of last year, joined the navy in 1935. He was mentioned in dispatches after the Chaudiere took part in destroying a U-boat.

Describe Convention

Three members of the Victoria and Island Branch of the Canadian Authors' Association, who attended the recent Pacific Northwestern Writers' conference at Seattle, gave reports at the first Autumn meeting of the local organization held last night at 635 Fort Street.

They were Miss Yvonne Stevenson, who represented the national executive of the Canadian Authors' Association, Miss Clara Hill and Miss Eugenie Perry. Each stressed the special interest taken by convention officials and delegates in British Columbia literary efforts. Miss Stevenson reported that the northwest area of the United States offered first-class publishing opportunities to Canadians.

Miss Perry and Miss Hill mentioned speakers who addressed the Seattle convention, and dealt with their subjects.

A H Sutherland reviewed "Island Trails," written by Mrs Edith M Cuppage, Victoria. Mrs. Jean Gilbert played two piano selections, "The Poet's Waltz" and "Humility," composed by John Rowland. James Morton, president, was chairman of the meeting.

Suggest Atomic Energy to Cut Channels Through Narrows

PORTLAND, Sept 10 (AP)—The Pacific Northwest Trade Association recommended today that scientists study possible use of atomic power to blast a wider channel through the inland sea passage to Alaska.

Businessmen of Washington and Oregon explained Canadian and American engineers have been working for two years for a way to improve a channel past Ripple Rock in the treacherous Seymour Narrows.

The proposal was among other recommendations for development of Pacific Northwest shipping, industries and tourist trade.

Frank McCaslin, Portland Chamber of Commerce president, told the meeting today the forecasts by Eastern economists of postwar hard times for the West Coast would prove false.

S B McKeen, of Vancouver, association president, said larger customs inspection staffs are needed in Northwest ports to speed flow of goods across the Canadian border. He also advocated more ships assigned to the area to speed service to the Orient. H O Mitchell, manager of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce, forest trade department, urged intensification of export trade efforts by Northwest business.

Conference resolutions included:

1 Speedy construction of unfinished portions of the Alaskan Highway west of the Rocky Mountains between the Prince George Highway and the Alaska Highway in the Whitehorse area.

2 Postwar utilization of Government-owned aluminum plants.

3 Support of a repeal of the Johnson Act, prohibiting loans to Governments in default on past loans by the United States.

4 Northwest communities were urged to provide proper tourist accommodations.

5 A study of affects of the national Jones Act, restricting operation of vessels of foreign registry in Pacific Coast ports.

6 Advocation of prompt return of vessels shipping to private operators to speed restoration of import and export trade.

Labor Party to Enter Election

The Labor Progressive Party named R Kerr candidate for Victoria in the October 25 Provincial general election, at a meeting on Sunday night in party headquarters at 1116 Broad Street. W White, shipyard worker and Saanich councillor, was elected candidate for Saanich.

R Kerr, a plumber who has been with the L.P.P. since its inception, also held the position of educational director for Victoria. He is a veteran of the Great War and the Spanish Civil War.

Mr White is an employee of the Victoria Machinery Depot Co. Ltd. Born in London, England, he has lived in Saanich 25 years.

At the meeting, R Mezger was named campaign manager for Mr. Kerr. George Greenwell, unsuccessful Nanaimo candidate in the Federal election, will manage Mr. White's campaign.

Talks to Gyro Club On Music of Speech

An address entitled "The Music of Speech" was given by G N Griffin, retired Regina Normal School principal, to members of the Gyro Club at a luncheon meeting in the Empress Hotel yesterday.

Illustrating the beauty of language, Mr Griffin gave numerous quotations from Canadian poets and writers. He claimed there were many deficiencies in the educational system today. Pupils were given too much unnecessary material which was poorly digested, he said, advocating reforms which would train pupils to think for themselves and to speak on their feet.

R B Hocking announced that the annual Gyro golf tournament would be held at Colwood on September 23 at 11 a.m., to be followed by a dinner at 7 p.m. Gyro members from Port Alberni, Nanaimo, Seattle, Tacoma, Vancouver, Burnaby and New Westminster are expected to attend.

W A Pendray, president, announced that the annual election of officers would take place next Monday.

Mrs. B Moore, 429 Parry Street, still awaits news of her son Pte William Moore, Winnipeg Grenadiers, taken prisoner in the fall of Hongkong and last heard from in a Tokio camp in December 1943. Pte. Moore's brother, Cpl Philip Moore, R C A S C, is stationed at Vernon.

On Russian Convoy

Sub-Lt Alex Cupples, R C N, only Victoria officer aboard the destroyer H M C S Gatineau, which arrived at Esquimalt recently, was reluctant to talk about his service yesterday.

"I have been in the service for four years, and that is about all there is to it," he said. "I did happen to be on Russian convoys for a time when I was with the Royal Navy. I was with the R.N. for three years."

Sub-Lt Cupples is the son of W. S. Cupples, 2833 Dufferin Street.

Find Aged Couple Nearly Exhausted

PORT ARTHUR, Sept 10 (CP)—Mr and Mrs J W Flatt, of Port Arthur, were discovered in a heavily treed swamp near here during the week-end after being lost for 97 hours. Both were in an exhausted condition.

Mr Flatt, former reeve of Shuniah municipality, is 80 and Mrs Flatt 79. When found they were standing in a thick growth of willows with water up to their knees.

Cartoon Collection

Clever cartoons depicting conditions which confronted Canadian soldiers while fighting in Sicily and Italy, appear in a second volume of This Army. Drawn at the front by Sgt. Bing Coughlin, the cartoons are those which originally appeared in the army newspaper Maple Leaf.

Although more significant to those who fought in the two countries, the collection of humorous drawings offers a wealth of entertainment to all readers. The artist has taken full advantage of mud and rainy weather in drawing his humorous reflections.

Ann Miller Stars At the Dominion

You'll like "Eadie Was a Lady." As impersonated by Ann Miller, she's a dancing darling and a singing sweetheart in a showcase of laughs—furnished in large measure by none other than that roly-poly goggle-eyed master of the broad gag, Joe Besser. Both are at their best in this new musical. So is Hal McIntyre and his orchestra.

Musically paced by six songs, namely "Gypsy from Brooklyn," by L. Wolfe Gilbert and Ben Oakland, "Til You Came Along" and "Eadie's Back," by Saul Chaplin and Sammy Cahn, "I'm Gonna See My Baby," by Phil Moore, "Tabby the Cat," by Howard Gibeling and Harold Dickinson, and "Eadie Was a Lady," by Buddy De Sylva and Nacio Herb Brown, "Eadie Was a Lady" goes its lively way at the Dominion Theatre from burlesque show background to ultra-ultra Boston, an exclusive college for girls, and then back to burlesque again.

Amusements

ON THE SCREEN

Atlas—"A Song to Remember," starring Paul Muni and Merle Oberon.

Cadet—Judy Garland and Tom Drake in "Meet Me in St. Louis."

Capitol—"Enchanted Cottage," starring Dorothy McGuire and Robert Young.

Dominion—"Eadie Was a Lady," starring Ann Miller and Joe Besser.

Plaza—Abbott and Costello in "The Naughty Nineties."

Oak Bay—"Irene," starring Anna Neagle and Ray Milland.

Rio—"Laura," starring Gene Tierney and Dana Andrews.

York—Johnny Weissmuller and Frances Gifford in "Tarzan Triumphs."

PLAZA THEATRE The "Naughty Nineties," held over at the Plaza Theatre, is a new kind of Abbott and Costello comedy and marks the first time that Abbott and Costello appear as individual characters. Abbott has the role of a showboat leading man. Costello is seen as the boat's chief roustabout and handy man. It is also the first time they have played in a period picture.

RIO THEATRE Dana Andrews and Gene Tierney are starred in "Laura," 20th Century-Fox's thrilling new psychological drama of love and murder which is now showing at the Rio Theatre. Based on Vera Caspary's sensational best-seller the film tells the story of a love that became the most fearful thing that ever happened to a woman. Gene Tierney is seen as a chic advertising executive who becomes the talk and mystery woman of New York's fabulous cafe society. Dana Andrews appears as a hard-boiled detective with a dramatic turn of mind.

YORK THEATRE The peace loving Tarzan is suddenly brought face to face with war's realities when a band of Nazi parachute troops invade his jungle kingdom in the Sol Lesser production, "Tarzan Triumphs," for RKO Radio, now showing at the York Theatre. The popular swimming athlete, Johnny Weissmuller, is starred in this production and Frances Gifford and Johnny (Boy) Sheffield are featured.

ATLAS THEATRE Many great motion pictures fall naturally into certain categorical pigeon-holes—a director's picture, a star's picture or the cameraman's. But on rare occasions, one comes along the greatness of which cannot be ascribed to one, two or even three elements in its composition. Such a film is Columbia Pictures Technicolor production, "A Song to Remember," starring Paul Muni and Merle Oberon and featuring Cornel Wilde at the Atlas Theatre.

CADET THEATRE A flaming rocket has burst upon Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios! And no one has run for cover. That's because the "rocket" is redheaded Lucille Bremer, shapely former dancer with Roxy's Rockettes, and the one and only Rockette to shoot straight up to screen stardom. She has a leading role in "Meet Me in St. Louis," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's Technicolor musical starring Judy Garland, which opened yesterday at the Cadet Theatre.

CAPITOL THEATRE A distinctive note in screen entertainment is struck in "Enchanted Cottage," which opened yesterday at the Capitol Theatre co-starring Dorothy McGuire, Robert Young and Herbert Marshall. Modernized from the famous Pinero play, with the hero an American pilot and its locale New England, the story revolves around a touching romance and the miracle it works in the lives of its two principals.
